NO TESTING FOR KIDS BELOW 5 ON INT'L ARRIVALS TO INDIA

Starting Friday, children will be exempt from pre- and post-arrival testing, but will be subject to existing quarantine norms

15-DAY POST-JAB SCHEDULE MUST ELAPSE

The Health Ministry said symptomatic children will have to undergo testing and be treated according to protocol. Besides, the fliers must have marked 15 days since the completion of the vaccination schedule, the ministry said, adding the review of the February 17 rules was done by taking a risk-based approach amid rising global vaccination rates

CONTACT TRACING OF THE SYMPTOMATIC

- Passengers found to be symptomatic during the screening at the airports will be isolated. If they test positive, their contacts will be identified and managed according to protocol, the rules say
- Fliers from countries that have reciprocal certification pacts with India, if they are fully vaccinated, need not do self-monitoring

MEA, CDS differ on construction by China along LAC

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

AT a time when India and China are locked in a tense border stand-off, the Ministry of External Affairs and the country's senior-most uniformed officer on Thursday made contradictory statements on Chinese construction activity along the Line of Actual Control (LAC).

The foreign office said it has neither accepted such illegal occupation of its territory nor has it accepted the unjustified Chinese claims. Later, speaking at a media conclave, Chief of Defence Staff General Bipin Rawat said a Pentagon report on Chinese construction in Indian territory is not true.

MEA spokesperson Arindam Bagchi said India has taken note of the US Department of Defense's report and always conveyed its strong protest to such activities through diplomatic means. The US report said China built a large 100-home civilian village inside the disputed territory between Tibet Autonomous Region and Arunachal Pradesh.

Bagchi added that the "government keeps a constant watch on all developments having a bearing on India's security and takes all measures to safeguard its sovereignty and territorial integrity."

However, General Rawat had a different take. "Chinese are building villages, possibly for billeting and locating their civilians or for the military in the future all along the LAC, particularly after the recent face-offs. But this present controversy that has erupted that Chinese have come across into our territory and built a new village is not true," he said.

"It is just that their old infrastructure is being redeveloped along the LAC on their side. I would not call it muscle flexing. We are noticing permanent structures on the Chinese side, so if we have to be permanently there, so be it," the CDS said.

Gen Rawat affirmed that India is well prepared for any misadventure, and are stocked up for a long winter.

Don't worry about Bitcoin probe: PM to CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday advised Karnataka Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai not to bother about the controversy over the alleged Bitcoin scam, and to instead focus on development of the state. The Bitcoin case has snowballed into a political controversy in the state with the BJP and Congress leaders hurling allegations against each other.

Speaking to media persons in New Delhi, Bommai said the Bitcoin case probe was not discussed during his meeting with the Prime Minister, but added that when he tried to raise the issue, the PM asked him not to bother about it and to work with integrity and boldness for the development of the state.

"It was not discussed. When I raised the issue, the PM told me not to bother about it and instead focus on working for the welfare of people with integrity and boldness," he said responding to a question.

This was his first meeting with the PM after the Bitcoin case probe became a political controversy and the Assembly bypolls in which the BJP failed to retain Hanagal seat in CM's home district, though it managed to win one seat with a big margin. "Modi said these are common in polls. He suggested that instead of thinking about this, we should focus on the 2023 Assembly election and work towards it," the CM said.

Bommai, who met Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Wednesday night, said the central agencies will have more information about the case and Shah too did not discuss the issue with him.

Farmers attempt suicide in stir against road work

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Belagavi

A farmers' protest against acquisition of their fertile land for a road project between Halaga and Mache, on the outskirts of Belagavi city, turned violent after some of the protesters tried to commit suicide and one of them attempted self-immolation. As soon as farmer Akash Angolkar set himself on fire during the protest, several protesters came to his rescue and doused the fire. According to sources, Angolkar has sustained at least 20 per cent burns and is being treated at a local hospital.

Several other farmers also tried to commit suicide by using sickles and climbing trees, but they were stopped by the police. When the situation slipped out of control during the protest, the police took many of the protesting farmers into custody.

Hot kaapi, bajjis, city's bad roads buzz through day

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WITH temperatures dropping in Namma Bengaluru and many people stuck indoors, netizens had the city trending on Twitter. From hot cups of filter coffee to bad roads, people had something to say about the weather on Thursday.

The city was blanketed by thick sheets of fog and constant drizzle throughout the week, reaching a peak on Thursday morning. With many people going about their day as usual despite the steady drizzle, citizens faced numerous problems with poor road infrastructure and a general sense of disgust in the gloomy weather.

Many netizens shared pictures online of hot tea, coffee, bhajis, vadas and bondas. There were others craving for hot snacks and steaming beverages. "Rain and cold, perfect weather for some bisi bisi kapi, sipping some rn" wrote one Twitter user (@ nsn2635), while another (@IAnnapurnna) tweeted out, "Rains call for hot green tea," posting a picture of a hibiscus and rose-infused cup of green tea.

Meanwhile, many complained about the lack of transport around the city as auto and cab services refused to accept any trips. "Bangalore cab drivers kept cancelling on me so here we are hitting roads, perfect weather as well!" said Twitter user @shreyanshi_shah, with a picture of her cycle.

Twitter user @NadjaNadika expressed her frustrations with auto drivers, saying, "This morning, I needed to get to Ramaiah hospital in a bit of a hurry. I was late, again no Olas and Ubers for more than an hour. I am on the street trying to chase down an auto. 3 empty ones go past. I tell them I need to get to an hospital in a hurry. No luck." Another user, @visually_kei, responded, "Bangalore autos are horrible. I remember the time a friend, coming back to her PG in an auto from Nanjappa Circle. A drunk man with a knife blocked the tiny road, the auto guy pushed the girls out and ran. Just like that. Thankfully, they were unharmed."

However, it's no surprise that one is unwilling to drive in the bad weather. The social media platform was filled with pictures of slushy roads in and around Bengaluru, with many tagging Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and the BBMP. Many Bengalureans were found commenting on Prime Minister Modi's post with CM Bommai, asking them if they had discussed the state of the roads in the city.

"Modi Ji, Look at the condition of roads in Bangalore. #BBMP n this Government is least bothered about the problems ppl r facing. #BBMP don't even address our complaints #Pathetic," said one Twitter user (@neethuneetha).

A tweet by @nimeshgupta2000 read, "Did you see how the city roads should be? did you feel ashamed when you look at Bangalore roads? why @BBMPCOMM not being taken to task here?". A tweet by @anandmangalam even compared the quality of Bengaluru roads with those of the villages around the city, saying, "sir did he talk about the brutal state of roads in Bangalore which is second highest tax paying district in India - surprisingly small villages around bangalore have 1000x better road than bangalore- we pay lakhs in tax per month but getting a decent life is so difficult."

HC quashes official's transfer

ENS @ Bengaluru

"POLITICAL interference in transfers and posting of officers would result in politicisation of public office, which would put public efficiency and good administration at peril..." the Karnataka High Court observed while quashing the transfer of petitioner D Naveen, assistant engineer of Bescom.

Taking a swipe at the strange procedure that KPTCL adopts in transferring its personnel to any of the Electricity Supply Companies (Escoms), the court noted that KPTCL issues transfer orders to offices which come within the control of Escoms. Later, Escoms issue further orders of transfer directing the officer to report for duty at the place of posting. Therefore, till the respective Escoms issue orders to report for duty, the officers who hold the order of transfer issued by KPTCL are left in limbo. It is this interregnum that generates litigation, the court said.

Petitioner D Naveen, Assistant Engineer (Electrical) with Bescom in Kadugodi, was transferred to Varthur, Mahadev's duty area, by KPTCL on December 9, 2020, after the transfer list was approved by the CM.

Call for Covid funds in govt schools

Resources needed to re-engage children with learning, fix infrastructure, say edu stakeholders

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

ON the occasion of National Education Day, education stakeholders demanded that governments immediately provide for additional expenditure, and prioritise expenditure to benefit disadvantaged students, for re-engaging children with education.

Post the pandemic, experts believe there is no dedicated Covid-19 contingency fund that schools can use to maintain Covid protocol like sanitisation and masking, or even to procure resources for students to revise learning, which has been on halt for almost two years.

"The bulk of allocations should reach schools to support enhanced learning. Additional financial allocations must also be allowed to be spent easily, together with appropriate controls and oversight, through untied school grants," said members of the National Coalition on the Education Emergency (NCEE), a group of individuals, organisations and networks across the country, which have come together to 'resume and renew' school education.

Gurumurthy Kashinath from NCEE said that just like the government increased expenditure due to a health emergency to procure vaccines etc, so also there is an 'education emergency' but which has received zero funding. For instance, dilapidated, leaky buildings that haven't been used during the pandemic, need fixing, students need paraphernalia to revise content from previous classes which was forgotten during the pandemic. A contingency fund of at least Rs 50,000 for each school should be set aside, he said.

The coalition sought additional expenditure to broadly focus on sanitation, repair and health measures in schools, better nutrition, communication materials for parents and teachers, instructional plans, additional learning materials (graded readers, puzzles, games etc) for restructured curriculum, assessment resources, teacher support and resources.

Govt schools to open doors to kids with disabilities

PEARL MARIA D'SOUZA
@ Bengaluru

THE department of primary and secondary education, in its efforts to make education inclusive, has roped in an organisation to train its teachers. The statewide project is called 'Nanagu Shaale' (School For Me Too) and is already running in the two educational districts of Koppal and Hubballi-Dharwad -- and will be extended to all 33 educational districts.

The project is meant for 1200 Block Integrated Education Resource Teachers (BIERT), who have a mandate of taking care of children with disabilities in each block, and will be equipped with the basics of inclusive education. However, the department is said to have just 700 such teachers and is in the process of recruiting the remainder.

Diana Vincent, director of Fourth Wave Foundation, said the problem is that teachers don't even know how inclusion is made possible, whereas in Europe, inclusion is just an ordinary process where they have a special teacher and children come to regular classrooms and take an extra set of classes for coping mechanisms.

A similar style of inclusion will be taught to teachers here, by spending a few extra hours after classes, so students can attend regular school. This, Diana says, also falls in line with the NEP idea where there will be no more special schools, and every child will belong to a local/village school.

The team is also looking at working with Anganwadi workers, so segregation does not take place at an early age, but children are equipped with modules to help them get integrated in regular schools.

Temperature anomaly needs study: Officials

Gloomy weather continued throughout the day on Thhursday with cloudy skies, drop in mercury levels and continuous rainfall | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

BUT the chill is already being felt due to lack of sunlight, thick cloud cover, rainfall and high humidity.

As per the IMD, Bengaluru city recorded 13.5mm rainfall up to 8.30 pm, HAL airport recorded 10.8 mm of rainfall and the International airport recorded 2.6mm rainfall up to 5.30 pm. According to IMD records, the maximum temperature in the city was 19.8 degrees Celsius and the minimum was 18 degrees Celsius. The officials said the marginal difference between the maximum and minimum temperatures is a matter of concern and needs a detailed analysis.

Over the last few days, the maximum temperature has consistently been less. The standard normal maximum and minimum temperatures for Bengaluru is 27.2 and 18 degrees Celsius, respectively.

The weather remained the same through the day with cloudy sky, drop in mercury levels, continuous rainfall, slushy roads and rise in demand for hot beverages. Most Bengalureans were seen carrying umbrellas or wearing raincoats all through the day along with winter wear. This is because the difference in the maximum and minimum temperatures was just 1.8 degrees Celsius.

The IMD's HAL airport observatory recorded a maximum temperature of 19.9 degrees Celsius and a minimum of 16 degrees Celsius while Kempegowda International Airport's observatory recorded a maximum and minimum of 20 and 17.8 degrees Celsius, respectively.

However, according to the Karnataka State Natural Disaster Monitoring Centre (KSNDMC), the temperatures at 5.15 pm in east and west Bengaluru was 16.5 degrees Celsius, 17.6 degrees Celsius in south Bengaluru, 19.1 degrees Celsius in RR Nagar, 16.9 degree Celsius in Yelahanka and Dasarahalli, 17.4 degrees Celsius in Mahadevapura and 17.9 degrees Celsius in Bommanahalli.

MORE RAIN

Bengaluru and other parts of south-interior Karnataka will experience very heavy rainfall till Friday, after which heavy rainfall is forecast on Saturday and Sunday. Another weather system is forming in the Andaman area under which most parts of south-interior Karnataka will again experience heavy rainfall.

PETER VIDAL

12th November: That strange planet Mercury is moving into an uncertain phase. In ancient cultures Mercury was the 'scribe' of the gods and, when the planet is behaving erratically, it is said that written and spoken communications are interrupted. In other words, delays are to be expected - if not today, then tomorrow or the next day.

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Life is full of surprises, but it all depends on how you deal with them. Sometimes you can be too brash and insensitive. However, over the next few weeks you can probably get away with being outspoken and even argumentative. Don't forget to follow your own advice!

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
Mercury has now withdrawn from its one relationship with your sign, only to replace it with another, so a great deal of what has been said in haste or anger may now be considered no more than water under the bridge. There's no use in dwelling on the past.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
Venus, a planet with a critical and benevolent role in your affairs, is now coming to your aid, which means that, personally and professionally, you have too much going for you to be sidetracked by people who don't understand you. You might even end up making a profit.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
An emotional tie or attachment may now be reconsidered. The point is that important planetary pressures have been lifted, which means that you may take a fresh look at all current relationships. If anything seems to be bothering you, it's that a partner's sincerity is open to doubt. Give them time to explain themselves.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
Just to look at the minus points in what is otherwise a very positive situation, I am concerned that you might become too selfish and demanding emotionally. This will not serve your cause, so watch it! You'd do better to start by asking partners what they want.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Those of you chasing professional success should feel confident that, even if applications don't succeed, they all represent vital steps on the path, or rungs on the ladder, if you prefer. You'll be keeping your romantic secrets, perhaps because you sense that someone is not ready to hear what you have to say.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
It's time to give a special message to all you artistic and creative types, whatever your particular forte: this is no time for wild self-expression, but rather for practical skills and traditional disciplines. You'll never make a dream come true unless you work at it.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
What other people often fail to realise is that you can be extremely good at building up a shrewd grasp of the facts, a quality which means that you are about to experience certain very important advantages in the financial arena. Stick to your guns.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
An entire group of planets is now encouraging you to go forth and multiply, metaphorically speaking of course! Spread yourself as widely as possible and let the whole world share in your hope and faith in the future. Traditional values will sustain your vision of a better world.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
When it comes to long-term finances, timing is of the essence. Do not be tempted to follow get-rich-quick schemes. The lure of instant winnings may be nothing more than an illusion, so be patient. When a loved one comes to you with a spending plan, tell them to think again!

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
To those who know you, you are often an exciting person to be around, encouraging change in all things, even though your actions are often very helpful and positive. However, it may now be your turn to stick to the past and hang on to what you know best.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Much depends on how you handle discussions with people at home. If something seems to be unsaid, be the first to bring it into the open. Powerful planetary relationships will help you accomplish most practical tasks, perhaps because they give you the determination to win through.

BENGALURU: Karnataka has reported 286 fresh cases of COVID-19 and 7 deaths, taking the total number of infections to 29,91,142 and toll to 38,138, the health department said on Thursday. The day also saw 289 discharges, taking the total number of recoveries in the state so far to 29,44,958. ENS

COVID AFTER-EFFECT

Onset of diabetes, BP in 35-40% of patients

Data for Karnataka shows 59,632 new cases diagnosed from April to Sept; Stress, use of steroids also blamed

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

DATA from the National Programming on Control of Diabetes shows 59,632 new diabetic and hypertension patients in Karnataka in just six months -- April to September 2021. Doctors say that 35% to 40% of the newly diagnosed patients had contracted Covid-19 and were treated for it.

"The reason for this is twofold: Covid itself increases the risk of diabetes and hypertension because of changes in the body mechanism, and patients who had moderate to serious Covid infection are put on steroids. Steroids unmask diabetes and increase blood sugar levels which increase the risk of developing Type-2 diabetes," said Dr Manjunath Malige, chief endocrinologist and diabetologist, Aster RV Hospital.

The increase in new diabetic and hypertension patients is worrying as it adds to the existing burden of 4.24 lakh cases of diabetes and hypertension in Karnataka. "These diseases are no longer limited to urban areas, and rural populations, especially those who have migrated from villages to tier-2 cities, are being diagnosed with these diseases. While Covid has certainly played a role, it is not just PHCs that are reporting high numbers but even private hospitals," explained Dr Subbarao V, endocrinologist.

> These are also people who had a healthy lifestyle, but the past two years resulted in lack of physical exercise, extended screen time and weight gain, which led to the disease
> Dr Manjunath Malige of Aster RV Hospital

Doctors from private hospitals say they have seen 30% to 40% of Covid patients being diagnosed with diabetes and hypertension.

Dr Vaishali Sharma, senior consultant, Department of Internal Medicine, Fortis Hospital, says, "SARS-CoV-2 infection in an individual leads to the body undergoing stress. This physiological chronic stress along with altered immune status and activation of the renin angiotensin aldosterone system has led to new diabetes and hypertension cases post Covid."

There is a bidirectional relationship between Covid and diabetes, says Dr Mahesh D M, consultant, Endocrinology, Aster CMI Hospital. While diabetes is associated with an increased risk of complicating Covid, new onset diabetes and metabolic complications of pre-existing diabetes are seen in patients with Covid-19.

Doctors say that Covid-induced diabetes can be reversed in the early stages, when blood sugar levels are not too high, and if lifestyle modifications such as diet control and regular exercise are introduced.

Now, a handbook for Covid-19 care

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

TREATMENT protocol for Covid-19 patients was constantly evolving through the pandemic, Dr C N Manjunath, director, Jayadeva Institute of Cardiovascular Sciences, said at the release of a 'Handbook on Complete Covid-19 Care' recently.

"This book will be a ready reckoner for clinicians, virologists, immunologists, vaccinologists and postgraduates. The WHO guidelines may not be relevant and we need Indian data as we have our own phenotype and environment," Dr Manjunath said, adding that the book must be made available in all critical care units. In all, 58 doctors of various specialities and health officials, including former Health Commissioner Dr Thrilok Chandra, were present at the release.

The foreword of the book is written by Dr M K Sudarshan, chairman of Karnataka's Covid-19 Technical Advisory Committee, along with Dr Sudarshan Ballal, chairman, Manipal Hospitals and Dr Rajesh Mishra, president-elect, Indian Society of Critical Care Medicine.

Prior to the release of the book, a panel of doctors discussed breakthrough infections, vaccine and variants of concern, mixing of vaccines, booster doses and complications of Covid-19 vaccines. "Those who have received vaccines are still at risk of Covid infection and must follow appropriate behaviour. Our ICUs have been getting severe cases of breakthrough infections but mortality is low," said Dr Bhuvana Krishna, professor and head, Critical Care Medicine, St John's Medical College Hospital.

The panelists said 80% accine efficacy means the chance of infection is reduced by 80% of those who are vaccinated.

'Need neuro care centres in dists'

BENGALURU: There are only a finite number of resources at National Institute of Mental Health and Neurosciences (NIMHANS) and there is a need to have more institutions providing neurological care, said its director Dr Pratima Murthy. She was speaking at the inaugural function of IANCON 2021, an annual conference organised by NIMHANS's Department of Neurology, in association with Bangalore Neurological Society and Indian Academy of Neurology, on Thursday. "We need neuro care centres in districts and taluks so patients do not have to travel all the way to NIMHANS. There needs to be basic support at home. We have a plan to strengthen primary and secondary health services and will work with the State Government to develop a model of neurological care," Dr Pratima added. Chief Secretary P Ravi Kumar too said that the load on NIMHANS must be reduced. "There are many neurological problems present, especially in geriatric patients. We need suggestions as we are grappling with these issues. We need to know how to tackle them. For instance, Covid-19 itself has resulted in neurological issues in people," Ravi Kumar said. Several doctors and professors were honoured with lifetime achievement awards at the inaugural function for their contributions to the field of neurology. ENS

BJP state vice-president BY Vijayendra said that the recent Hanagal bypoll defeat was a temporary setback to the party and that the saffron party will bounce back in future elections. Addressing the media in Davanagere, Vijayendra said that Basavaraj Bommai will remain as the CM till the next elections and there will be no change of guard in Karnataka. "Congress leaders are spreading rumours to put brakes on the administration," he said

BJP, CONGRESS CONTINUE TO SPAR OVER BITCOIN SCAM

Saffron party leaders say sons of 2 Congmen involved, DKS says govt opening old case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru, Mysuru

THE ruling BJP and Opposition Congress on Thursday continued to trade barbs over the Bitcoin scam with the saffron party leaders accusing sons of two Congress leaders of having a nexus with alleged hacker Srikrishna, alias Sriki.

With the Congress dragging Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai's son into the scam, BJP leaders minced no words in attacking the Grand Old Party.

"During the Congress regime, Sriki was arrested in a drunken brawl at a star hotel and Congress leaders know who were his accomplices. Instead of making baseless allegations, they (Congress leaders) should furnish all the details they have to the investigation agency," Karnataka Home Minister Araga Jnanendra said. Jnanendra also hit out at the Congress for linking Bommai's Delhi visit to the scam. "CM's visit to Delhi was in the interest of the state's development," he said.

Meanwhile, former BJP MLC Ashwath Narayan accused Shanthinagar Congress MLA NA Haris' son Mohammed Nalapad and former Congress MLA Rudrappa Lamani's son Darshan of being involved in the scam. "Nalapad was involved in a brawl in Bengaluru's UB City when Congress was in power. Sriki was also involved in this. Later, when the Bitcoin scam surfaced, Sriki had named Nalapad and Darshan. Can Siddaramaiah react to this?" Narayan thundered.

Reacting to the issue in Mysuru, BJP state spokesperson M G Mahesh dared Siddaramaiah to come out with details of children of politicians involved in the scam. Mahesh, too, alleged the involvement of sons of two Congress leaders. "We are not making these allegations. It is the prime accused who has disclosed this before the CCB. Just like the Rafale deal, investigation into the Bitcoin scam will expose the Congress," he said.

Mysuru-Kodagu BJP MP Pratap Simha echoed this charge. "A detailed probe will expose the involvement of Congress leaders, similar to the Rafale probe which exposed the involvement of the mother-son duo," he said, referring to Congress leaders Sonia and Rahul Gandhi.

"If the IT/BT minister during the Congress regime is interrogated, the truth will come out," BJP SC Morcha president Chalavadi Narayanaswamy said, indirectly referring to Congress MLA Priyank Kharge.

Reacting to the allegations, KPCC president D K Shivakumar said the BJP has been conspiring to spoil the Congress' image by reopening an old case not related to the Bitcoin scam. "The probe wants to fix Congress leaders to safeguard the BJP. Just because they (Nalapad and Darshan) befriended Sriki, they cannot be fixed in the scam," he said. He also questioned the timing of Bommai's Delhi visit and alleged that some BJP leaders themselves were talking about the involvement of their own party leaders.

Nalapad, talking to a TV channel, clarified that although he knew Sriki, he did not know that he was a hacker. Rudrappa Lamani also clarified that his son Darshan, who has been looking after his family's mining business, has nothing to do with the Bitcoin scam.

The probe into the Bitcoin scam is to fix Congress leaders to safeguard the BJP leaders. Just because they (Mohammed Nalapad and Darshan) befriended Srikrishna, they cannot be fixed in the scam

Cong allegations politically motivated: Shettar

Hubballi: BJP leader Jagadish Shettar said the Congress was hitting out at the BJP over the Bitcoin scam just to gain political mileage. He told reporters in Hubballi on Thursday, Shettar said, "Instead of making baseless allegations, Congress leaders should produce documents to substantiate their charges." Clearing the air over the CM's Delhi visit, Shettar said, "Bommai went to the national capital to discuss irrigation projects. It had nothing to do with the Bitcoin scam."

Modi to inaugurate B'luru suburban rail works in Dec

Bengaluru: CM Basavaraj Bommai on Thursday said that PM Modi will lay the foundation stone for the Bengaluru suburban rail network in December. Speaking to the media after meeting Modi, Bommai said that he invited the PM to launch the suburban rail project work, inauguration of Dr BR Ambedkar School of Economics building in Jnana Bharati campus of Bangalore University and inauguration of 180 ITI colleges that have been upgraded. "I invited the PM and he has agreed to visit Bengaluru for two days. The dates will be finalised by the Prime Minister's Office," Bommai said. ENS

PM appreciated my work as CM in last 100 days: Bommai

BOMMAI said Modi appreciated the State Government's various schemes and initiatives. He also applauded the work in the last 100 days, especially the scholarship scheme announced for children of farmers. The PM insisted that this programme should be successful so that it can be extended to other states, the CM said. "Modi also appreciated the recent step by the State Government on scrutinising tenders and to bring transparency," Bommai said.

The CM said the PM discussed various issues including the National Education Policy. "I explained about the Amrith schemes and he suggested a nodal officer to coordinate between State and Union Governments while implementing joint schemes at the panchayat level. Modi also stressed on providing houses for all in a phased manner in association with the PM Awas Yojana, empowering women's self-help groups, providing special programmes for SC, ST women and also financial aid from banks. He also appreciated Karnataka's aerospace, renewable energy, research and development and other initiatives," he added.

On his meeting with BJP president JP Nadda, Bommai said right now, the party is focusing on the UP polls. "However, he said, Karnataka is their priority and is expected to visit Karnataka to hold discussions on strengthening the party. Nadda also sought details about the Jan Swaraj Yathra which will begin from November 19. He also advised us to focus on the upcoming MLC elections to 25 seats," the CM said.

'My confidence boosted'

Bommai termed his two-day Delhi visit as a success and said that his meeting with the PM has boosted his confidence to work with added vigour for the welfare of the people. Bommai also held discussions with Union Minister Piyush Goyal on clearing the pending dues of Rs 2,100 crore to Karnataka.

₹2 PINCHED FROM EACH JAN DHAN ACCOUNT: KUMARASWAMY

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AS a controversy rages over the bitcoin scam, with the ruling BJP and opposition Congress slinging allegations at each other, JDS leader H D Kumaraswamy has alleged that the 'Jan Dhan' accounts of citizens are being hacked to illegally divert over Rs 6,000 crore elsewhere.

"Prime Minister Narendra Modi might himself know about it, and has hence taken it seriously," he told reporters on the sidelines of the party's Janata Parva 1.0 workshop on Thursday. "I have information that Rs 2 is being diverted from each Jan Dhan account. Citizens have the right to know who is behind this illegal transaction," he urged.

The Pradhan Mantri Jan Dhan Yojana (PMJDY) is the Government of India's flagship programme aimed at financial inclusion of citizens, especially the weaker sections, and encourages opening of accounts with zero balance. As on November 11, 2021, there are 43.81 crore beneficiaries with Rs 1,48,935.05 crore balance in their accounts, according to the official portal of PMJDY.

The former chief minister suspects a clandestine attempt to hush up the bitcoin scam as the 'kingpin' in the case and hacker Srikrishna, alias Sriki, managed to get bail in connection with a separate case of a brawl in a hotel. "Who bailed him out with surety, and what is the role of the lawyer who appeared on behalf of the government? If the Congress regime had taken action in 2017-18, the scam would not have been so damaging," he alleged.

With both the BJP and Congress involved in the scam blame game, people are in a state of confusion as to whom they can believe, he said. "The Congress is in a glasshouse and is pelting stones at others. Eventually, their leaders' names have also been surfaced," Kumaraswamy said. He pointed out that Police Commissioner Kamal Pant had written to investigative agencies as early as March-April 2021 for a probe.

PM Modi, who got to know about the bitcoin scam during his visit to the US, is facing embarrassment. In the interest of safeguarding the country's image, the names of certain leaders were not revealed by agencies, he remarked.

Speaker Vishweshwar Hegde Kageri administered the oath of office to Sindagi Bharatiya Janata Party MLA Ramesh Bhusanur at a ceremony at 11am, at the conference hall of the state secretariat in Vidhana Soudha.

In fact, Mane showed up along with Bhusanur, but went in search of Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) president D K Shivakumar, whose arrival was delayed due to a traffic snarl.

So when Mane's turn came, Kageri sought his presence and waited for a while. He asked secretary Vishalakshi to find him, but in vain. KPCC working president Saleem Ahmed, who was present in the hall, kept dialling Mane to inform him to return at the earliest.

When he did not turn up, an angry Speaker termed Mane's behaviour "indecent" and left as he had pre-scheduled programmes. The Speaker is leaving for his hometown Sirsi, and will return only on November 16. He is again expected to leave for Shimla to take part in the national conference of presiding officers, slated to be held between November 16 and 20.

So Mane may have to wait until his return from Shimla, or until the winter session in Belagavi.

Hanagal effect

D K Shivakumar, who wished to accompany Mane taking oath, arrived late. However, he alleged that the Speaker had taken the opportunity to express his tirade against the Congress, for the BJP's defeat in Hanagal.

"Since we were just five minutes late, the Speaker should have given us some time. Let him fix any date for the oath taking. But this is unwarranted in a democracy," Shivakumar said.

He, however, admitted that he had erred in coming late, while clarifying that he respects the Speaker's chair.

This is not the first such instance: Newly elected Basavakalyan MLA Sharanu Salagar of the BJP and Maski MLA Basanagouda Turvihal of the Congress had reportedly made the Speaker wait for at least 15 minutes on June 8, 2021. Although upset with such behaviour, the Speaker had waited patiently. "They were first-time MLAs so the Speaker had cooperated. But Mane is a senior leader and should have been punctual to respect the chair of the Speaker," remarked a senior official with the secretariat.

Conduct survey to assess crop loss, Siddu writes to Bommai

There is no information with the department about the extent of damage to areca, coffee and pepper in Malnad and coastal Karnataka districts

Siddaramaiah, Cong leader

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Opposition Congress on Thursday urged the State Government to conduct a comprehensive survey to assess crop loss due to heavy rains in the last few weeks and provide compensation to farmers.

In a letter to Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, Opposition Leader in Assembly Siddaramaiah said as per the information provided by the Agriculture Department, crops on 11.22 lakh hectares was damaged due to rains, but the department has no information about the extent of damage in districts that received heavy rains in last one-and-half months. "There is no information with the department about the extent of damage to areca, coffee and pepper in Malnad and coastal Karnataka districts," he said.

"Survey was not done to assess the extent of damage to crops in south interior Karnataka districts, including Bengaluru, Bengaluru Rural, Kolar, Ramnagara, Mandya and Mysuru and farmers in other parts of the state are also facing hardship due to rains since July. The government has not taken any measures to get the survey done or to provide compensation," Siddaramaiah stated.

Siddaramaiah said that the Union Government has also not given adequate compensation. "In 2019-20 and 2020-21, the loss was to the extent of Rs 1.5 to 2 lakh crore. But the Centre in 2019-20, gave just Rs 1652.85 crore and in 2020-21, Rs 1328.30 was released. However, only Rs 2981.15 crore was released," Siddaramaiah stated in the letter to Bommai.

Farmers did not get fertilisers at the right time and now they are facing problems due to heavy rains, but the state and central governments failed to provide assistance to them, he thundered.

"The government must immediately conduct a comprehensive survey to assess crop loss and provide compensation to farmers," Siddaramaiah concluded.

After 12 years, Congress to start membership drive

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Shivamogga

THE Congress membership drive is commencing in Karnataka after a gap of 12 years, and will be flagged off on November 14 in Bengaluru, said H S Sundaresh, Shivamogga district Congress president.

He told the media here on Thursday that the party is taking the membership drive very seriously and former chief minister Siddaramaiah, KPCC president D K Shivakumar, and senior Congress leaders S R Patil, Mallikarjuna Kharge and others would take part.

The membership drive in Shivamogga district will start on November 19 and last for two months, and many leaders and former elected representatives from the district will take part, he said.

On the upcoming MLC elections, he said former MLC R Prasanna Kumar and leader Y H Nagaraj are two aspirants and the party high command will take the final decision. Once the candidate is named, all party leaders will work for the victory of the candidate, Sundaresh said.

On the bitcoin scam, he said there is a suspicion that children of BJP leaders, including a district leader, are involved, and a proper investigation would reveal the truth. If anybody from the Congress is involved, let them face punishment, he said.

New aerospace and defence policy likely by year-end

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE State Government is likely to announce a new aerospace and defence policy by the end of this year, Industries Minister Murugesh Nirani said as part of the new policy, the government is planning to offer enhanced incentives to Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) to provide a level playing field and make them competitive.

Addressing business leaders at the Lockheed Martin's 8th Annual India Suppliers Conference here, Nirani said that the government is in the process of setting up a 1,200-acre defence and aerospace park in Devanahalli.

A statement issued by Nirani's office said that the new policy would concentrate on drawing original equipment manufacturers (OEM) to the state and the government is also looking to create clusters not only in Bengaluru, but elsewhere like Tumkuru, Chamarajnagar and Chitradurga.

Nirani said 25% of India's aircraft and spacecraft industry is based in Karnataka and over 67% of all aircraft and helicopter manufacturing for defence services is done in the state, which contributes to 65% of the country's aerospace-related exports. Karnataka is home to over 2,000 small and micro enterprises along with 70% of India's supplier base which executes subcontracting work for the Defence Public Sector Undertakings.

Karnataka was the first state in India to come out with an aerospace policy in 2013, and the proposed policy is intended to factor in developments in the sector in the last eight years as well as emerging sectors, read the statement.

'Hanagal bypoll defeat won't affect BJP'

MYSURU: Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha has said that Basavaraj Bommai would be the CM of the state even after the 2023 Assembly polls. "Siddaramaiah, who had lost against JDS' GT Devegowda from Chamundeshwari in 2018, is now praising him to bring him back to Congress. A loss in the bypoll won't decide anything (referring to the BJP's loss in recent Hanagal bypoll). In that case, the Congress, which won both Gundlupet and Nanjangud byelections during its rule in the state, had failed to win the next elections," he said. ENS

Muddy roads lead to 4-day Krishi Mela

Over 12,000 farmers registered for fair, many participants signed up on spot; 10 new crop varieties launched

GKVK members, farmers and other stakeholders during the inauguration of the four-day Krishi Mela on Thursday | ASHISHKRISHNA HP

THIS year's Krishi Mela is unique, not just because the rain and the muddy roads added to the feel, but because farmers took the stage and lead the mela.

This year, the festival was inaugurated by tribal woman turned farmer, Premadasappa. She lit the lamp on the dias in the presence of a series of dignitaries. The humble women was honoured by professors and officials of Gandhi Krishi Vignan Kendra (GKVK), where the four-day mela is being held.

She inaugurated the mela in the absence of Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and Agriculture Minister B C Patil, as the politicians decided to give the event a miss, citing model of conduct as the reason. Waterman of India Rajendra Singh participated in the event and encouraged farmers to undertake water conservation efforts along with farming.

Rajendra Prasad, Vice Chancellor, GKVK, said, "Due to the pandemic, quite a number of techies and engineers have quit their profession and turned to farming. Many are also into weekend farming, mostly in the outskirts of Bengaluru, cultivating fruits and vegetables."

Over 12,000 farmers have registered for the mela, while many other participants registered on the spot. Ten new crop varieties and 28 new technologies were launched. The mela also has 550 stalls showcasing traditional, endemic and hybrid crop varieties, technologies and machinery tools in farming apart from cattle, poultry, marine farming. This year, they are focussing on the sale of seeds, saplings and even poultry.

Also on the occasion, GKVK is honouring 140 farmers and startup professionals for the commendable work done in the farming field, bringing in new technologies, innovations and employment generation.

Not only in villages, her crops are sold on online platforms too

ON Thursday morning, Premadasappa inaugurated the four-day Krishi Mela 2021 as Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai was away in New Delhi. She lit the lamp in the presence of several dignitaries and was honoured by academicians and officials of the Gandhi Krishi Vignan Kendra.

Hers was one of 60 families which moved out of the forests in Nagarhole Tiger Reserve. They had opted for land and home instead of cash compensation under the tribal relocation project, which was then a first initiative in Karnataka. "I was born in the forest, grew up in the wild, lived amid wildlife, got married there and had children there, too," she said. "I stayed there for almost 40 years. Life was uncertain and challenging inside the forest. Initially, when we came out, we were confused and lost. It took us a lot of time to understand and learn the lives of farmers. With hand-holding from government, NGOs and other farmers, I learnt. And my traditional knowledge of the forest made matters easy."

Premadasappa now grows pulses, vegetables, fruits and other cash crops. Her produce is not just sold in villages and markets around HD Kote and Mysuru, but in Anekal and Bengaluru. She is selling her produce via online platforms like Big Basket. In the forest, she earned her first income — a meagre Rs 100-150 per month — by working in the fields and as a labourer. Now, she earns a handsome Rs 70,000 to Rs 1 lakh a month.

HERO COP RESCUES UNCONSCIOUS MAN

Chennai: An Inspector with the Chennai city police, E Rajeswari, has earned praise from all quarters after a video of her rescuing a 28-year-old man, presumed dead, went viral on social media. "I received a call from the control room informing me that a man had died after a tree branch fell on him at the cemetery in TP Chatram. My team and I rushed to the spot. But soon I realised that he was only unconscious," E Rajeswari told TNIE.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

AFTER a night of continuous rain, many parts of Chennai saw waterlogged streets with residents trapped indoors on Thursday. Central areas of the city including T Nagar, Ashok Nagar, KK Nagar and Teynampet were among the areas flooded. According to official data, as many as 44.2 lakh consumers in the city are currently without power supply.

The city corporation recorded 502 waterlogged streets on Thursday alone, which is over a hundred more than the number of waterlogged streets clocked since the monsoon began on which date till Wednesday. The civic body's helplines recorded 3,800 complaints on Thursday, the highest so far this season.

Water levels in the already-waterlogged Ashok Nagar and T Nagar rose further due to the rains, leaving residents trapped indoors.

"Yesterday, we had calf-deep water, but today, the depth has doubled and kept people away from their homes," said Rajendiran of Anna Nagar 18th Avenue.

Alwarpet's Seethammal Colony and other core areas of the city were also waterlogged. On the heavily-flooded Chamiers Road, Corporation officials said water is expected to drain by midnight if it doesn't rain heavily after evening.

"We have been pumping out water and disposing it in the Adyar but the water level is too high for the water to drain. Even the Chief Minister's house has not escaped waterlogging. We are working to clear it up at the earliest," said an official.

Courier's tip helped nab Naxal duo

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

TOP Naxal leader Beemensaralu Gopalaravu (BG) Krishnamurthy alias Vijay (51) was arrested along with Rajitha alias Savithri, by the Anti-Terrorism Squad (ATS), Kerala police, on November 9 "from a highway in Madhur in Gundlupet in Chamarajanagar district in Karnataka". This is contrary to media reports that they were arrested from Kerala, said official sources.

Both Maoist leaders hail from Chikkamagaluru district in Karnataka, and carry rewards of Rs 5 lakh each, as announced by the Karnataka government. According to placed sources, BG and Savithri were "unarmed" at the time of arrest. The former's arrest is a huge setback to the Naxal movement in the Western Ghats, and the Central Committee (CC) of the CPI (Maoist) of which he is a member. He is also secretary of the Western Ghats Special Zonal Committee (WGSZC).

"The Kerala ATS had got credible inputs regarding BG's movement, following the arrest of Gautam from Tamil Nadu last week. He operates as a courier -- the link -- between the WGSZC and the CC of the proscribed party. BG, who has been in Kerala for the past few years, had to move out to re-establish links with the CC after Gautam's arrest. His movement was being tracked by the ATS," said sources.

BG is now associated with Kabani dalam, which is spread from Wayanad to Kannur districts in Kerala. He is known to be the senior-most member of the CPI (Maoist) in Kerala/ Western Ghats Zone, except for a CC member who is suspected to have joined recently. A lawyer, he joined the CPI (Maoist) in 1995 and came to Kerala in 2013. He has been a member of the CC since 2018, and of the WGSZC since 2007. Before coming to Kerala, he was part of the Tungabhadra dalam in Karnataka, said informed sources.

As per the police dossier, Savithri is the Kabini dalam commander and area committee member. "She has been an active UGW since 2004 and had joined Bhavani dalam in Palakkad district in Kerala in 2012. She came to Kerala with 16 other cadres from Karnataka. She joined the Kabini dalam in 2018," said sources. At present, there are six women cadres in the WGSZC. "There has been no new recruitment in the People's Liberation Guerrilla Army (PLGA) in Kerala but there are reports of some movement to recruit urban cadres," added sources.

Cops get court nod for tests on Sriki's laptops

Bengaluru: A city court has permitted the Jeevan Bima Nagar (JB Nagar) police to conduct digital forensic analysis on four laptops seized from hacker Sri Krishna aka Sriki. "As there are several cases of hacking against Sriki, it was necessary to retrieve data from his laptops to establish whether he is involved in any fresh cyber crimes, including hacking. We had sought permission from the court to subject his laptops for digital forensic examination. On Thursday, the court granted us permission," a senior police officer said. Sriki, who is at the center stage of the alleged Bitcoin scam, was released on bail from Bengaluru Central Prison on Wednesday. 'Won't let go of land for road'

THE protesting farmers vowed to sacrifice their lives but not allow the government to acquire their fertile lands for the road work. However, the local authorities, including National Highways Authority of India officials, allegedly destroyed standing crops on their fields on Thursday to facilitate the road work.

According to sources, the government acquired 134 acres for a 9.5-km bypass road between Halaga and Mache. A part of the land acquired for the work is said to be fertile, which has enraged a section of the affected farmers. The protest was launched at Mache village on Thursday when the project work was being taken up in the fields where there was standing sugarcane crop, ready for harvest.

The farmers alleged that the authorities had changed the blueprint of the project, to protect land belonging to influential people, and were not taking up the road work as per the original plan. However, the local authorities denied the farmers' allegations and said they were implementing the road project as per the original blueprint.

Amit Angolkar, a farmer who had climbed a tree and threatened to commit suicide by jumping, later said, "We have three acres of fertile land and we will not let it go under any circumstances for the road work. While the actual market price of my land is Rs 8 lakh per acre, the government is paying a measly Rs 1.5 lakh per acre. But I don't want money and neither do I want to sell my land. If my two-acre land is acquired, it is not possible for our family to survive on only one acre."

WEAVERS' SUICIDES UNABATED, 2 MORE DIE IN BELAGAVI

SUNIL PATIL @ BELAGAVI

SUICIDE of weavers in Belagavi has continued with the government failing to address their woes and fulfil the promise of purchasing woven sarees. On Wednesday, two more weavers committed suicide in Belagavi in separate incidents. The debt-ridden weavers were identified as Ganapati Jyotiba Sangapannavar (45) of Malaprabha Nagar, Vadgaon, and Ganapati Ramachandra Buchadi (60) of Laxmi Nagar in Shivaji Galli, also in Vadagaon.

According to sources, the weavers were facing hardship and were unable to pay their loan installments as there were no buyers for the sarees they had weaved. The Shahapur police have registered separate cases.

So far this year, two weavers have committed suicide in Belagavi while 30 weavers have ended their lives across the state. Last year, four debt-ridden weavers had ended their lives in Belagavi city while 20 weavers committed suicide in the state.

The troubles for weavers, who have micro weaving in their houses units, started after the first lockdown last year. They had already invested in raw materials for sarees, but with absolutely no sales, they could not even recover the cost or sustain themselves. The pandemic aid of Rs 2,000 has not reached them and the assurance of the previous government, led by B S Yediyurappa, to purchase sarees from the weavers has fallen flat.

Belagavi Weavers' Association secretary Parashuram told TNIE, 'The situation of weavers is worsening with every passing day and debt-ridden farmers have no choice but to end their lives. The cost of raw material for weaving sarees has increased, but there are no buyers. Those who do buy sarees are not making payments. In such a critical situation, the government has turned a blind eye. Families of weavers who committed suicides are not getting relief funds for several months. The Textiles minister should visit the Belagavi and Bagalkot clusters of the weavers' community to understand ground reality."

CHIPS DOWN IN AUTO SECTOR, TAKE A RELOOK AT TAX CUT DEMANDS

Indian automakers are literally surviving from one fatal hour to another. If the 2018-19 economic slowdown drove the industry close to the boneyard, the Covid-19 pandemic struck another death blow just when the sector was barely recovering. Now, the global chip shortage and supply chain issues that knocked down festive sales are threatening to whipsaw the sector's revival. Of the 130-odd industries that were hit by the chip shortage, the auto sector, which accounts for 10-12% of the global chip demand, is the worst hit. Society of Indian Automobile Manufacturers (SIAM) data shows auto sales of six companies fell by 26% in October over last year and dealers are sitting on an order book of over 5 lakh units and counting. Chip shortages may persist in 2022, though not as acute as 2021, and CRISIL Ratings pegs India's passenger vehicle sales to moderate by 11-13% this fiscal over last year.

Automakers have gone back to production cuts, with market leaders like Maruti reducing output by 60% in September. Some companies are diverting chips to high-demand segments like utility vehicles and prioritising production of premium passenger vehicles, while others are removing features to conserve chip usage and are optimising and innovating to bring down the number of chips used in one component by half. Measures like these along with some smart inventory planning could rescue the industry to an extent, but the brutal fact is that some amount of business is lost forever.

Chances are, if the economic momentum continues, demand will likely bounce back, but then, the industry could be courting another trouble via higher metal prices that could dent profits by an estimated 1–1.5%. This brings us back to tax cut demands of automakers, with GST rates hovering between 29% and 50% (including cesses and excluding road taxes) making vehicle ownership costs steep. In August, the government dismissed demands of tax cuts as it was unclear if a reduction will spur sales. But with GST collections stabilising at over ₹1.15 lakh crore a month, perhaps it's time the GST Council takes a relook.

START PREPARING FOR NEXT T20 WORLD CUP

India's last global title was in 2013. They were in two finals—2014 T20 World Cup and 2017 Champions Trophy, and three semifinals—2015 and 2019 World Cup and 2016 T20 World Cup. For a team that practically drives cricket worldwide, these are modest figures at ICC white-ball events. This T20 World Cup perhaps was one of the worst possible performances and the failure to get out of the Super 12s can't be dismissed as a blip. Serious introspection is needed.

A new regime is in place led by captain Rohit Sharma and coach Rahul Dravid. India should look to build a team capable of challenging top teams in next year's T20 World Cup in Australia. With less than one year to go for the showpiece event, they should look at identifying trends and get the mix right. If required, they should not hesitate to drop stars.

What great T20 teams do is define roles clearly, which was one of the reasons why India looked confused in the desert. Is K L Rahul going to be an opener or a spin hitter? Will Ishan Kishan be used as an opener or a floater? Will R Ashwin be an option in Australia; if not will the New Zealand matches be his last in India colours…? They may even have to start embracing the English model of giving their multi-format players (Rishabh Pant, Rahul, Jasprit Bumrah to name a few) a break from ODIs and the odd Test to keep them fresh for T20Is in the build-up to Australia. The schedule is going to be unforgiving for the next 12 months. Perhaps the three-match T20I series against New Zealand would be an ideal platform to launch their T20 World Cup quest.

The likes of Venkatesh Iyer, Avesh Khan and Harshal Patel are in line to make their debut. They cannot have any passengers and the message should be loud and clear—perform or perish. In 2007, then new skipper M S Dhoni was very keen to have his own team and led it to victory. If Rohit is to give himself the best chance of an encore in 2022, the planning has to begin next week.

Hate is capital. It can be mined endlessly from the nether regions of online behemoths. Climate catastrophe? What's that? We are too united in our ways of being hateful to bother about the real world

THE CLIMATE IN OUR BRAIN MUST CHANGE

SOUMYADIP SINHA

It is a dystopian world out there in any case. The tiny Kiribati island-state in the central Pacific, with most of its population of 1,19,000 living on coral atolls, are leading a frenetic campaign on social media—Facebook, YouTube, the works—to avert the Final Tide. They are, quite literally, hanging on to the last sliver of their land before it disappears. For them, climate change is not some abstract theory, or some distant debate filled with ifs and buts. It is an undeniable reality of their lives, they face it every day, it is what they talk about and struggle against every day.

Nearer home, we keep seeing endless cycles of flooding in cities (Chennai, again, being the latest), wildfires and, yes, drought, without ever bothering to read patterns into them. Juxtapose them against parallel events. Lake Tuz, Turkey's second largest lake, has entirely dried up this year. What has been cited as the reason? Climate change, aggravated by faulty agricultural practices. Declining rainfall, climatologist Christos Zerefos says, is turning Crete and the Aegean Islands in Greece into deserts. A woman struggling to breathe in the aftermath of the raging wildfires in Kootenays, in Canada's British Columbia province, was diagnosed as a "climate change patient"—probably the first one. And surely not the last.

In this backdrop, if there was any hope of the Glasgow summit going beyond promising another set of future deadlines for zero emissions, it was broken. One of the biggest emitters of greenhouse gases, China, was absent. It's too busy dreaming up war games for world dominance. Saving Planet Earth perchance sounds like a rather boring assignment for the Bossman of Beijing, so he just sent in his speech. To be sure, he has cleaned up the air around most of China's important cities, much better than Delhi. So what if there are a few holes in the atmosphere and a bit of dangerous colonial-style exploitation in and around the melting North Pole? Not enough to drive a convergence of purpose that can pull us out of the way of a calamity that's advancing upon us.

The islanders of Kiribati who think the stray surfer-cum-YouTuber will bring deliverance for them from the rest of the world, become part of the embankments they are desperately putting up … well, they are wrong. Please-put-off-your-air-conditioners, please-say-no-to-coal, please-save-us … those cries don't reach too many people. In a world where suicidal games of dominance and fast bucks drive the agenda, appeals to good sense simply don't work. Hate does! Online campaigns against climate change naysayers, against the still-criminally-violating developed world, can yield results and a following in billions only if they generate anger and hate. Nothing else works—not 'likes', nor those soft emojis, only the angry ones. (Yes, emojis are our new world language.) Articulated anger offers itself as the only way for the meta-narrative to be turned on its head—at least, that's the illusory comfort it holds out. The likes of Mark Zuckerberg can make their billions and maybe a few island nations can still be saved from sinking.

Hate is capital. It can be mined endlessly from the nether regions of those online behemoths. Can people play the bully and not get bullied by those living off them? AI systems won't detect, or detect only about 49.4% of the violent hate, misinformation and bullying that goes around. Hate is also its own form of climate change. Thank heavens India achieved Independence much before Zuckerberg's progenitors were born! Gandhi would have sunk just like those Pacific islands. No Frances Haugen, no whistleblower would have sufficed. Godse and friends would have had far more followers back then! FB would have spent, just as it does now, only a minuscule proportion of its billions on hate detection machinery, enforcement reports, community standards and compliance, despite the huge numbers India would have supplied to it. Gandhi's satyagraha may have been conducted on a wholly different plane, against colonisers of the mind. In both the centuries, the last one and this, the colonisers have one tactic in common: divide and rule.

And what-ifs aside, what exactly is India doing now besides endless crisis management, battling natural and human-induced disasters in one state and then the next? It's playing footsie with the climate agenda, making the right noises, and playing footsie with Zuckerberg's company too, getting loud on hate. Much before the whistleblowers got wind of the fact that FB internal research papers found hate sells better and more, we in India had it all figured out. Want to be a social media influencer? Or merely want a gig economy job as a troll army foot soldier? Just dip your quill into that bottle of poison ink and let it flow into the ether. In this dystopia, that's investment.

What exactly is India doing now besides endless crisis management, battling natural and human-induced disasters in one state and then the next? It's playing footsie with the climate agenda, making the right noises, and playing footsie with Zuckerberg's company too, getting loud on hate

Want evidence? Just wait for the next round of election campaigning to heat up in the plains of Uttar Pradesh or Punjab, in the hills of Uttarakhand or the coasts of Goa. Hate will be on full, unadulterated display. What about climate change? What's that? Mamata Banerjee may again descend on Goa, trying to transplant her 'grass-roots politics' onto a new meadow. The Yogi-Akhilesh-Priyanka show will rattle on through, past and beyond Lakhimpur Kheri. And whoever-is-the-latest-CM in the hill state will try to save himself from political landslides under him. Punjab, of course, is Punjab—an ousted Captain, a former batsman, and one who was called a 90-day wonder, besides other teams. Climate catastrophe? Let's repeat that question: what's that? We are too united in our ways of being hateful to bother about the real world.

MARVELLOUS METAL MIRRORS FROM ARANMULA

SHARADA SRINIVASAN
Professor, School of Humanities, National Institute of Advanced Studies, Bengaluru

An iconic sculpture from Karnataka is of the madanika or damsel from the 12th century Hoysala Belur temple. Attributed to the patronage of dancer and queen Shantala Devi, she gazes engrossedly into a mirror and forms part of a stone imitation of an architectural strut. Apart from aesthetic significance related to personal adornment, mirrors have also had magico-religious associations in various parts of Asia. The English word 'speculation' was derived from the Roman 'speculum', related to foretelling the future by looking into a mirror. This was also taught to students of Tibetan Buddhism. The fascinating Chinese magic mirrors made of bronze had a mercury-coated reflective surface that could throw patterns on a wall related to the decorated rear surface due to intriguing optical effects.

While the lush green village of Aranmula in Kerala along the languid Pampa river comes alive during Onam festivities with a frenzy of boat races, its alluvial loam also nurtured a remarkable craft of mirrors known as Val Kannadi (Malayalam/Tamil; kanne being related to sight). The freshly polished Aranmula metal mirrors yield an astounding reflective image which can even legitimately claim to be better than modern mirrors. Whereas modern mirrors have a thin sheet of glass over a reflective mercury coating, with refraction through glass diminishing the quality, the Aranmula metal mirror gives a perfect point image due to the absence of such refraction, with brilliant colours due to uniform reflectance across the surface. Metallurgical investigations by the author over the past few decades on remnants collected from traditional Acharis or master craftspeople contributed to revealing how the spectacular reflectance was achieved.

Ancient Egyptian as well as Harappan mirrors excavated from Quetta and Dholavira were flat, circular or oval with tangs and appear to have been of copper or bronze with a low amount of tin. Although copper and bronze can give a polished reflective surface, the image would have a more golden or coppery hue rather than true colours. Whereas silver has good reflectance, it is soft and prone to denting or scratching, which would yield distorted images. This is why early Belgian mirrors were of glass over a silver layer, although the silver tarnished over time and was eventually replaced by more durable mercury coatings.

The Aranmula alloy seems ideal for mirrors as it consists predominantly of a highly reflective delta phase that is an intermetallic compound of 32.6% tin bronze, forming a narrow composition range of 32-33% tin alloyed to copper. This silvery-white compound has a very high hardness of 500 VPN more than steel and hence yields itself to being polished free of distortion to get the best possible reflective surface. The challenge is that the alloy is brittle and breaks as easily as glass, and hence the skill of the traditional craftspeople lay in the ingenious methods of casting and manipulating the alloy using low-tech materials to get a high-tech product.

Furnace where the famed mirror is made

To offset the brittleness, a very thin oval blank of a couple of millimetres was cast so that it would cool more rapidly and homogeneously. A closed crucible-cum-mould was used, whereby the bottom part consisted of a two-piece mould kept a few millimetres apart into which the mirror blank would be cast, and the top had a cup containing the metal to be cast. This apparatus was then sealed with clay, forming a closed crucible that could minimise the interaction of air and molten metal, which could cause a defective casting. It was then heated in a hearth with the crucible cup facing downwards and then the molten metal tipped over; thermal camera studies suggest a temperature difference between crucible cup and mould that facilitated more rapid cooling of the mirror blank. The cast blank was then skilfully lapped over a few days, in much the same way that modern metallurgical samples are polished—traditionally with coarse polishing on a rougher gunny sack and then using Hessian cloth to remove finer scratches, until a brilliant mirror finish was obtained.

Although mirrors were made in antiquity with over 20% tin such as in China or the Roman world, they often had lead added to reduce the brittleness. However, lead, being opaque, could reduce the reflective properties compared to the unleaded Aranmula delta bronze mirror. Indeed, a mirror from Kerala with a Travancore seal of the 18th century examined by the author remarkably consisted almost entirely of pure delta phase crystals. Cairns going back to the Iron Age from the Nilgiris also intriguingly yielded a mirror with 30% tin bronze as reported by Breeks in the 19th century. Speculum metal with about 30% tin and perhaps a few per cent lead was used for telescopic lenses, for example by the astronomer William Herschel from Bath, UK, in the 18th–19th century. One might joke that the Aranmula mirror could be an ideal material for a reflective telescope in space where it would not corrode due to the lack of atmosphere! However, on earth it does tarnish over time and the craftspeople recommend frequent polishing with red oxide to keep the mirror effect going. After the demise of master craftspeople such as Janardhan Achary and Gopalakrishna Achary, it is heartening that their enterprising daughters and spouses have striven to keep alive the fading legacies.

Where are Chennai's lakes?

The flooding in the city of Chennai is a wake-up call for the state to rejuvenate its water bodies or at least maintain the remaining ones. According to former Anna University professor K P Subramanian, 650 water bodies were present in Chennai in 1970 but most of them have vanished and the number has now come down to just around 35. That is the reason why Chennai is inundated and both the DMK and AIADMK, which have alternately ruled the state in this period, are responsible for the current plight of the Tamil Nadu capital.

Desilting not done

The Tamil Nadu chief minister has said that the previous government didn't do any desilting work and alleged there were irregularities. But when did the present government become aware of this, just a few days ago? There was enough time to complete the desilting work to prevent the flooding.

Loss for Malayalam cinema

Though veteran actor Kozhikode Sharada who passed away earlier this week did not play the most prominent characters in films, she made a strong impact with her typical style of acting—proving that whether the role is small or big, it is the actor who adds flesh to the story of a movie. Her face and dialogue delivery made her a shrewish but loveable character in most films. Her true-to-life acting style will be missed in Malayalam cinema, which has lost many doyens in recent times.

I felt really sad on hearing about the demise of Kozhikode Sharada. She was endearing and enacted her roles with humour. May the Almighty give strength to her family to bear this grief.

Welcome gesture in Pak

Pot calling the kettle black

This is with reference to BJP-Cong slugfest on Rafale pay-off (Nov 10). Like a ghost from the past, the Rafale deal and the kickbacks associated with it come back to haunt political parties off and on. And in a classic case of the pot calling the kettle black, the BJP and the Congress keep pointing accusing fingers at each other. Were the bribes to secure the deal paid during UPA rule or when the NDA was in power? The government that is ruling today has remained tight-lipped and refused to set up any SIT to go into the nitty-gritty of the deal to ascertain whether there was anything underhand about the purchase of the Rafale jets from France. Its spokespersons however pounce on any report in the French press to lay the blame at the door of the Gandhis. The only thing we can be sure of is that the truth, as in all such cases in the past, will never be known.

Ending fires in hospitals

Fires in hospitals have become a common affair. Instead of sending notices, why cannot the fire safety authorities just barge in and carry out all the statutory checks and close down places that do not adhere to the regulations? Enough of this bureaucratic attitude and no waiting for more precious lives to be lost.

Highest approval ratings

With 70% approval ratings in the Morning Consult polls on world leaders in countries including the US, Australia, the UK, Germany and Canada, the Indian PM again stands at the top. Modi has excellent skills particularly suited for governance in a democracy and other leaders can learn from him.

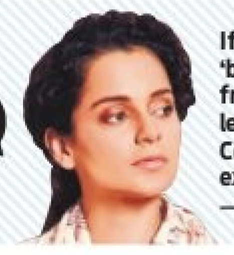
Independence or alms? Kangana remark sparks national outburst

Padma Shri actor says India attained freedom only after 2014, Opposition parties condemn



If we get freedom as a 'bheekh' (alms), is it even freedom? What the British left behind in the name of Congress... They were the extension of the British

Kangana should make a public apology to all Indians for her statement. Our freedom movement & our freedom fighters' sacrifice were insulted
—Gourav Vallabh, Congress

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

SLAMMING actor Kangana Ranaut for calling India's Independence as alms, Congress and other Opposition parties said her comments amount to treason. Congress even wrote to President Ram Nath Kovind urging him to take action against her and also said that the government take back the Padma Shri given to her recently for insulting the country's Independence movement.

Congress spokesperson Gourav Vallabh said her statement has shown what happens when people who are not deserving of Padma awards are given these honours. "I demand that Kangana Ranaut should make a public apology to all Indians because of her statement, our freedom movement and our freedom fighters' sacrifice were insulted," he said.

Speaking at an event, Ranaut said the country's independence in 1947 was not freedom but "bheekh" and the "country got real freedom in 2014" (after BJP came to power).

"The government should take back the Padma award from a lady who is insulting Mahatma Gandhi, Sardar Bhagat Singh, Subhas Chandra Bose, Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel. If the government is giving her Padma award, it means the government is promoting these kinds of people," said Vallabh.

Mahila Congress chief Netta D'Souza wrote to Kovind for initiating appropriate action against Ranaut for "insulting freedom fighters, disrespecting the Constitution and mocking the national movement.

Shiv Sena leader Priyanka Chaturvedi compared Ranaut's remarks to another BJP member, who recently claimed that India has been given freedom as lease for 99 years. "New Ruchi Pathak on the block. From 99 years lease to bheek main mili azaadi. All the blood, sweat and balidan (sacrifice) of our freedom fighters including Jhansi ki Rani dismissed to please the master. The WhatsApp history fans," she said.

Ranaut is not on Twitter but her name was trending. Even historian S Irfan Habib called her statement 'abysmal'.

Kafeel Khan fired over child deaths in hospital

I am the only one targeted in the case while seven others, who were suspended, were reinstated by this government. I have been dismissed despite the high court's clean chit to me in April, 2019

Dr Kafeel Khan
Paediatrician

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

AFTER being suspended for four years, Dr Kafeel Khan, paediatrician at Gorakhpur's BRD Medical College, has been terminated from service.

The order of termination of Khan's services was released by Medical Education authorities late on Wednesday night. He was suspended in connection with the death of 67 kids at BRD Medical College due to lack of oxygen in August, 2017. Khan was sacked after being found guilty in a probe conducted into the circumstances leading to the mishap.

Alok Kumar, principal secretary, Medical Education, said as the matter is sub-judice, a detailed report would be furnished to the high court on next date of hearing. At present, Khan was attached to the office of Director General Medical Education after his suspension in 2017.

Reacting to this, Khan said he had confidence in judiciary and would challenge the dismissal in court. He added he was surprised because the court had given him a clean chit.

"They have no authority to terminate me. They should have taken orders from UP Public Service Commission," asserted the doctor. However, government authorities claimed the order of termination was released only after fulfilling formalities.

It may be recalled that Khan was given bail by Allahabad High Court on April 18, 2019 in the hospital death case. The court had observed there was no proof of negligence against him. But the matter is still sub-judice and pending in the same court.

Khan said the UP government had constituted another inquiry against him in February, 2020, when he was in jail in connection with a speech during the anti-CAA protests. The government declared in the court in August, 2021, that it was withdrawing the newly constituted probe following the court's directives.

Khan's dismissal drew sharp reactions from Congress general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra. She said this is done to harass the doctor, who went out of his way to rescue the children in the Gorakhpur tragedy.

"Land travel between India and Pakistan is conducted on a limited scale in coordination with the Pakistani side." He said both sides are following health guidelines.

Pilot bargains as Gehlot meets Sonia

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

AMID speculations over Cabinet expansion in Rajasthan, Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot on Thursday met Congress chief Sonia Gandhi. The party is struggling to quell power tussle in the state.

After an hour-long meeting with the party chief, Gehlot said, "The party high command will decide when the reshuffle will happen. We have left it to the high command to decide. Ajay Maken has all the information on it. I have briefed the leadership about the situation in Rajasthan. We want good governance to continue in Rajasthan."

The meeting came after Gehlot and former Rajasthan Congress chief Sachin Pilot held separate meetings with party leadership on Wednesday on cabinet expansion, organisation reshuffle to accommodate Pilot's loyalists.

Sources said the party is looking to implement a "one person one post" criteria in the state and some of the ministers may tender resignation to work in the organisation. Some members from the Pilot camp will be accommodated both in the government and organisation.

During meetings with top leadership, Gehlot has been told to accommodate people from Pilot's camp while the CM has told that the party should reward loyalist MLAs who supported the government when Pilot rebelled last year and was looking to topple the government in Rajasthan.

Pilot has been categorical that the party should make changes and accommodate party workers so that they feel represented in the government. He further said that the decision on pending demands is expected soon as the central committee has finalised things after discussion with both the sides.

As a part of pressure politics, Pilot tried to give a clear message to his supporters and clarified the stand on his group's demands by tweeting a video late on Thursday. In the video, Pilot is seen claiming that he has raised the demand for posts in the government to ensure justice for party workers who worked hard with him and advocated for an early completion of the issues decided by the reconciliation committee.

Married daughters of UP govt staff get a boost

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

IN a decision taken to benefit married women, the Uttar Pradesh government has decided to place married daughters of government officials in the category of dependents and eligible for jobs on compassionate ground if the officials die during service.

The state Cabinet headed by CM Yogi Adityanath has approved this proposal. The move could give a new colour to women empowerment in poll-bound UP. The Cabinet cleared the proposal through a circulation late on Wednesday. Until now, only the wife, married/unmarried son and unmarried daughter were eligible as dependents of a deceased government official. The Cabinet broadened the definition of "dependent daughters" to include the married ones, officials said.

A senior official, however, said the married daughter will be considered for job after the deceased's wife, married/unmarried son and unmarried daughter. "She may also get the job if other family members refuse to take it up."

Earlier this year, the Allahabad High Court had maintained that excluding married daughters from the definition of "family" in the rules for appointment on compassionate grounds was "unconstitutional" and in violation of Articles 14 and 15 of the Constitution.

The Cabinet also approved a proposal to rehabilitate 63 Hindu Bengali families displaced after the formation of East Pakistan (now Bangladesh) in 1971. The families will be settled in village Bhaisaya in Kanpur (rural) over 121.41 hectares.

Navy chief-designate is teetotaler, reveals mom

CYNTHIA CHANDRAN @ T'Puram

WHEN her son expressed his desire to join the defence forces, B Vijayalekshmi thought it was natural as many in their family had already been part of the service. Yet, she was a bit reluctant as she feared he would end up consuming too much liquor. But the young boy promised he would not drink at all.

It is a word Vice-Admiral R Harikumar has kept ever since. As he gets ready to take charge as the new Navy chief on November 30, Vijayalekshmi says she is proud that he is a teetotaler though his colleagues were amused as it's rare in the armed forces.

"Harikumar has always been a keen observer and I had thought that he would pursue a career in the medical field. But he decided to join defence forces. Since many members of the family were in the forces, it was natural for him to join the National Defence Academy. I was apprehensive as I was under the impression those days that a majority of them would end up drinking a lot. Noticing my dilemma, my son gave me his word that he would remain a teetotaler. He has stayed that way," said Vijayalekshmi.

At Madhurima, her house in Thiruvananthapuram, Vijayalekshmi is busy attending phone calls and visitors who turn up to congratulate Harikumar. A law graduate, she is keen to attend his ceremonial takeover as the Navy chief, though she is a tad worried about the early onset of winter in Delhi. But Harikumar wants her presence as he takes charge from Admiral K Singh and has sent his wife Kala Nair to fetch her to the Capital.

Vice-Admiral Kumar was commissioned into the Executive Branch of the Navy on January 1, 1983. During a career spanning nearly 39 years, he has served in a variety of Command, Staff and Instructional appointments.

Chief Justice agrees to hear Tripura UAPA pleas

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

DAYS after two lawyers and a journalist booked under UAPA by Tripura Police moved Supreme Court seeking quashing of FIRs and challenging the constitutional validity of certain provisions of the Act, the court said the plea will be heard soon.

The petitioners have challenged the constitutional validity of Section 2(1)(o) (which defines unlawful activity), Section 13 (punishment for unlawful activity) and 43D(5) (restrictions on grant of bail) of the Unlawful Activities Prevention Act.

A bench headed by Chief Justice of India N V Ramana agreed to urgently list the matter after it was mentioned by advocate Prashant Bhushan on behalf of the petitioners.

While the two lawyers have been charged with UAPA for their fact finding report 'Humanity Under Attack in Tripura #Muslim Lives Matter', journalist Shyam Meera Singh has been booked for tweeting 'Tripura Is Burning'.

The plea seeks the court's directions against invocation of UAPA by the government of Tripura against members of civil society including advocates and journalists who documented and spoke against targeted atrocities perpetrated on minorities in October 2021.

"If the state is allowed to criminalise the act of fact finding and reporting, that too under stringent provisions of the UAPA in which anticipatory bail is barred and the idea of bail is a remote possibility, then the only facts that will come in public domain are those that are convenient to the state due to the chilling effect on the freedom of speech and expression of members of civil society. If the quest for truth and reporting itself is criminalised then the victim in the process is the idea of justice," the plea said.

SG assures SC Manipur Governor will react soon

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

SOLICITOR General of India Tushar Mehta on Thursday assured the Supreme Court that the Governor of Manipur will soon take a decision on the opinion given by the Election Commission regarding the disqualification of 12 BJP MLAs of the state Assembly over an office of profit issue.

Mehta gave the assurance to a bench of Justices LN Rao, BR Gavai and BV Nagarathna while hearing a petition filed by DD Thaisii, a Congress MLA from Manipur, who has sought disqualification of the 12 MLAs on the ground that they were holding the posts of parliamentary secretaries, which amounts to offices of profit.

During a brief hearing on Thursday, Justice Rao told the Solicitor General to use his good offices so that the matter is taken care of. "In January, an opinion was given by the Election Commission. According to Article 192 (of Constitution), the Governor has to go with the decisions. In 11 months nothing has happened. We don't want to pass an order but please your good offices so that opinion is given so that they can be challenged," Justice Rao told the Solicitor General.

"I assure we will do something and no direction will be required to be passed," Mehta said in his reply.

Earlier this week, the bench had observed that the Governor of Manipur cannot delay taking a decision on the opinion given by the Election Commission regarding this matter.

GODDESS RETURNS

Back from Canada, 18th-century Annapurna idol handed over to UP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

AN 18th century idol of Goddess Annapurna brought back from Canada last month was handed over to Uttar Pradesh government on Thursday at a ceremony in the national capital. The deity was stolen and taken out of the country around 100 years ago from Varanasi.

Present on the occasion were more than 12 Cabinet ministers including Hardeep Singh Puri, Smriti Irani, G Kishan Reddy, Dharmendra Pradhan along with several UP government ministers. The idol will be placed in Kashi Vishwanath Temple on November 15 after appropriate rituals.

Priests from four prominent temples in Delhi — Jhandewalan, Chattarpur, Kalkaji, and Chittaranjan Park — performed rituals during the handover ceremony. Minister of State for External Affairs and Culture Meenakshi Lekhi supervised proceedings.

Reddy said because of the efforts of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, the idol of Goddess Annapurna had come back to India. "In coming days, after consultation with the local governments, two statues will be sent to Tamil Nadu and one each to Andhra Pradesh and Rajasthan," he said.

The Archaeological Survey of India had received the Annapurna idol on October 15.

'Centre ventures into state domains'

Punjab Assembly passes resolutions against order to extend BSF jurisdiction, farm laws

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

THE Punjab Assembly on Thursday unanimously passed a resolution against the Centre's order extending the jurisdiction of the Border Security Force (BSF) from 15 km to 50 km, terming it an "insult" and seeking its withdrawal. The two BJP MLAs in the 117-member House were absent when the resolution was passed.

The Assembly also passed a second resolution rejecting the three farm laws and demanding their immediate withdrawal. It stated that the Centre had "unlawfully ventured into the domain of the state government".

The resolution against BSF jurisdiction extension during a special session was moved by Deputy Chief Minister-cum-Home Minister Sukhjinder Singh Randhawa, who dubbed the central government's order as attack on the federal structure and urged MLAs to meet PM Modi over the issue.

The resolution reads, "Punjab Police is a unique patriotic force which has contributed immensely in maintaining the unity and integrity of the country. As per the Constitution of India, maintaining law and order is the responsibility of the state government and for this purpose, the Government of Punjab is fully competent…. The decision… by the Union government is an expression of distrust towards the state police and people of Punjab. This is their insult too."

Chief Minister Charanjit Singh Channi said if required, the state would approach Supreme Court in this matter.

Accusing the Congress government of adopting double standards on deployment of BSF, Shiromani Akali Dal leader Bikram Majithia said on one hand, the home minister was deploying the force in jails whereas on the other hand, he was opposing its jurisdiction.

Rejecting the resolution, former chief minister Amarinder Singh asked the state government not to politicise the issue of national security for petty partisan ends.

DON'T POLITICISE THE ISSUE: AMARINDER

Former CM Amarinder Singh asked the government not to politicise the issue. "The jurisdiction of the BSF concerns national security and not the law and order in the state, which the current powers that be in Punjab are not able to understand."

EX-MLA ARRESTED BY ED IN MONEY LAUNDERING CASE

Chandigarh: The Enforcement Directorate (ED) on Thursday arrested former Punjab MLA Sukhpal Singh Khaira in a money laundering case. Khaira had rejoined the Congress recently after quitting the AAP. He was elected as MLA on the AAP ticket after he shifted loyalty from the grand old party, but resigned the post before returning to the latter's camp. Khaira termed the arrest "political vendetta by the BJP government at the Centre as he has been supporting the farmers' agitation". The 56-year-old former MLA was arrested by the ED after questioning him for three hours at its local office in Sector 18. The agency had raided his premises in March and alleged Khaira was an associate of drug case convicts and fake passport racketeers. Khaira won the 2017 Assembly poll on AAP ticket but resigned from the party in 2019 and floated his own party. However, he returned to the AAP later. A few months ago he rejoined the Congress and resigned the MLA post.

Army scales down hunt for hiding militants, may focus on plugging gaps

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

THE Army has scaled down its month-long search operation against militants in the dense forest areas of Poonch and Rajouri districts in Jammu and Kashmir as no fresh contact has been established with the militants. The well-armed and well-trained militants have been engaging soldiers in multiple gunfights in the forests in which nine army men, including two Junior Commissioned Officers (JCOs), have lost their lives.

An army official told this newspaper that the scale of operation against the militants in the forest areas has been scaled down.

"Some sort of cordon is still there. A few army parties are still there. However, the strength of troops that was there during the initial phase of operation is not there now," said the official.

The ongoing operation against militants is one of the longest against militants in the restive Union Territory.

The official said no body of militant or weapons have been recovered during the search operations. The Army used drones, helicopters and also pressed para commandos into service to track down the militants, whose exact number is not known.

Retired Army brigadier Anil Gupta said counter-insurgency grid had been disturbed and the security forces would have learnt the lesson from the operation. "Now after the Poonch operation, security forces would take measures to plug those gaps to give no space to militants," he said.

Gupta said there is apprehension that some militants, who might have infiltrated across the border, may have reached south Kashmir by passing through the dense forests without being detected.

Former J&K police chief Kuldip Khoda said since nine soldiers have been killed in gunfights with militants, it means the militant group is bigger and well-armed.

According to security officials, the dense forest area and the caves in the twin border districts of Poonch and Rajouri can lead a person to Bafliaz in Poonch and there from Shopian in south Kashmir.

TWO MILITANTS KILLED IN SEPARATE GUNFIGHTS

Srinagar: Two militants were killed in two separate gunfights with security forces in Kulgam and Srinagar on Thursday. An unidentified militant was killed in encounter when security forces launched a search operation in Kulgam. The second encounter erupted in Bemina area of uptown Srinagar in the evening, leading to death of another militant.

BMC POLLS: SENA WITH NCP, CONG SOLO

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

THE Shiv Sena and the NCP are set to join hands for the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation elections (BMC) scheduled in February 2022 while the third partner in the Maha Vikas Aghadi, the Congress, will contest solo.

According to sources, Shiv Sena president Uddhav Thackeray and NCP chief Sharad Pawar had a series of meetings where the issue was discussed. "We have asked to identify the wards where each party candidate stands a strong chance. Our present strength in the 227-member corporation is nine. We can fight on 50 seats while the Shiv Sena can contest the rest. The Marathi voters are with the Sena, which, combined with Muslim, Dalit and NCP-loyalist votes, can deliver victory on many seats," said an NCP leader.

The Shiv Sena currently holds 99 seats in the BMC.

"In the 2017 polls, the BJP put in a lot of effort and won 84 seats against their previous tally of 35 but the Sena finally managed to bag the BMC. This time, the party did not want to take any chance and therefore decided to tie up with NCP. The NCP may not have a major base here, but it has certain loyalists that will surely add up to the total tally," said a Sena leader.

He added that there could be no alliance with the Congress since it was difficult to allot seats to the grand old party as per its demand.

Mumbai Congress president Bhai Jagtap said the party had decided to fight alone.

"We have already started our preparations. Our membership drive is also in full swing. The Congress has a major base in Mumbai. So, we are confident of winning many seats. Rahul Gandhi will be in Mumbai on December 28 to kickstart the BMC campaign," Jagtap added.

Not taking risk this time

The Shiv Sena currently holds 99 seats in the BMC. In the 2017 polls, the BJP won 84 seats against their previous tally of 35. This time, the Sena does not want to take any chance and has decided to join hands with the NCP

After verbal feud, Maha leaders begin legal fight

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mumbai

Family members of Maharashtra minister Nawab Malik and former chief minister Devendra Fadnavis are busy sending defamation notices against each other as the senior leaders have been engaged in a bitter war of words over recent drug busts.

Malik's son-in-law Sameer Khan has sent a legal notice to Fadnavis, seeking a compensation of ₹5 crore for defaming his family.

The NCB had arrested Sameer Khan on January 13 in connection with an alleged drug case. He was released on bail later.

Fadnavis had earlier said, "…Now Malik's son-in-law was found with drugs in his possession", adding that "if narcotics are found in the house of a person, then what will their party be".

Challenging Fadnavis' charges, the legal notice said the charge sheet filed by the NCB does not support even a single allegation levelled by the BJP leader. "The panchnama clearly says the house was searched and no contraband was found. But from which source you obtained such frivolous and baseless report is better known to you," said the legal notice.

Amruta Devendra Fadnavis, wife of the BJP leader, immediately sent a legal notice to Malik for "tarnishing the image of her family" through his alleged defamatory tweets. "Mr Nawab Malik shared a series of defamatory tweets including some pictures! Here is the Notice of Defamation," Amruta tweeted. The notice from the side of Fadnavis came after certain tweets of Malik had claimed connection between Amruta and alleged drug peddler Jagdeep Rana.

UP official held for sexual harassment

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

IN a glaring example of sexual harassment at workplace, an under-secretary-level officer at Bapu Bhavan in Lucknow has been arrested for sexually harassing a female colleague.

Accused Ichharam Yadav is posted at the minority welfare department as a section in-charge. The victim, who shot the video of the officer when he was harassing her, alleged Yadav had been doing so since 2018. She said the official had threatened to fire her from her contractual job.

The female worker submitted a complaint at Hussainganj Police Station following which an FIR was lodged against Yadav under various sections of the IPC on October 29. In the video made by the victim, Yadav can be seen forcing himself on her as she is trying to save herself by pushing him away.

The married woman, aged 30, presented multiple videos of such incidents as evidence to the police. She alleged the police didn't initially arrest Yadav as he was well-connected. Frustrated at this, she put out the video that went viral.

According to ADCP (Central) Khyati Garg, a case was registered in the matter and an investigation was in progress. "After recording the statements and examining the evidence, action will be taken," she said.

ED RAIDS 8 PLACES IN CONNECTION WITH WAQF BOARD SCAM

Mumbai: NCP leader and Maharashtra minority development minister Nawab Malik on Thursday said he welcomed the Enforcement Directorate's raids in connection with the alleged land scam involving Pune Waqf Board as his ministry, under which the Waqf Board falls, had already started a clean-up action. "I want to say to the ED and its officers that I welcome their action as long as they want to clean the system. But if there is a campaign to malign my image because of the fight that we have started against the Central agencies, then I would say Maharashtra government does not get scared by them," the outspoken minister said. He said the ED should clarify whether Devendra Fadnavis or any other BJP leader asked it to conduct the raids. Seven places in Pune and one place in Aurangabad were raided by the ED in connection with the case which involved irregularities to the tune of `10 crore.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bhopal

Lakhs of tribals from across Madhya Pradesh and other states will be present at the sprawling venue that is being embellished with tribal art and pictures of tribal legends.

On Wednesday, the Union cabinet had decided to declare November 15 as Janjatiya Gaurav Diwas to mark the birth anniversary of revered tribal icon and legendary freedom fighter from Jharkhand, Birsa Munda. The cabinet had also decided that week-long programmes will be organised nationally from November 15 to commemorate the contributions of Birsa and other tribal leaders in India's freedom struggle.

CM Shivraj Singh Chouhan said, "The decision will not only be ideal tribute to the tribal icons of our country's freedom struggle, but also be a milestone for the empowerment of the scheduled tribes."

Scheduled tribes comprise over 22 per cent of MP's population. The Chouhan government has been engaged in tribal welfare since the CM opened the doors of his official residence in 2007 for hosting the Adivasi Chaupal.

New judges in commission probing Jheeram attack

The Congress government on Thursday appointed two new judges in the judicial commission that is probing the Jheeram Valley Maoist attack in May 2013, which had eliminated the top brass of the state Congress leadership. The state government nominated Justice Agnihotri as the chairperson and Justice G Minhajuddin as the member of the panel. Earlier the Congress had raised objections over the commission submitting the probe report to Governor Anusuiya Uikey, citing alleged violation of the accepted propriety. It alleged such submission "a digression from the established procedures".

Communist Party passes rare resolution to cement leader Xi's grip on power

BEIJING

TOP Communist Party leaders wrapped up a key meeting in Beijing by passing an important resolution on the country's past, state media said Thursday, which is expected to cement President Xi Jinping's grip on power.

Xi, the uncontested leader of the world's most populous nation, has been heading a pivotal plenary of the ruling party's top figures since Monday in the Chinese capital.

Some 350 members of the powerful Central Committee passed China's resolution on "Major Achievements and Historical Experience of the Party's Centennial Struggle" — only the third of its kind in its 100-year history.

The previous two resolutions were issued under former leaders Mao Zedong, in 1945, and Deng Xiaoping, 40 years ago in 1981.

The lengthy declaration called for upholding "the correct view of party history", said official news agency Xinhua, adding that the party has "written the most magnificent epic in the history of the Chinese nation for thousands of years".

"The Party Central Committee called on the entire party, the entire army and people of all ethnic groups to unite more closely around the Party Central Committee with Comrade Xi Jinping as the core, to fully implement Xi Jinping's new era of socialism with Chinese characteristics," the Xinhua readout stated.

This year's closed-door plenum paves the way for the 20th party congress next autumn, at which Xi is widely expected to be handed a third term in office, securing his position as China's most powerful leader since Mao.

Analysts say the resolution will help Xi shore up his grip on power by setting in stone his vision for China and diminishing the role of previous leaders.

The "thought" of Xi "is the epitome of Chinese culture and soul," the text reads, saying that his presence at the "heart" of the ruling party "is of decisive importance... to promote the historic process of the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation".

Jean-Pierre Cabestan of the Baptist University of Hong Kong said the party is "rewriting its past in order to shape the future around Xi Jinping". He predicted that there would be an "even greater form of taboo" on the dark days of Chinese history as a result. Xi's tenure has been marked by a sprawling anti-corruption crackdown, repressive policies, and an increasingly assertive approach to foreign relations. He has also created a leadership cult that has quashed criticism, stamped out rivals and introduced his own political theory to school students. AFP

Putin flexes muscle with two N-capable bombers

Poland deploys 15,000 troops to stop the flow of illegal immigrants

MOSCOW

RUSSIA sent two nuclear-capable strategic bombers on a training mission over Belarus for a second straight day on Thursday in a strong show of Moscow's support for its ally amid a dispute over migration at the Polish border.

The Belarusian Defence Ministry said two Russian Tu-160 strategic bombers practiced bombing runs at the Ruzany firing range, located in Belarus about 60 kilometers east of the border with Poland. As part of the joint training, Belarusian fighter jets simulated an intercept, the ministry said.

The missions marked the second time in just two days that Russia sent its nuclear-capable bombers into the skies over Belarus.

A pair of Russian Tu-22M3 long-range bombers flew a similar patrol on Wednesday, and Belarusian air defence assets practiced intercepting them.

The Belarusian Defence Ministry said such Russian bomber flights will be conducted on a regular basis.

Russia has strongly supported Belarus amid a tense standoff this week as thousands of migrants and refugees, most of them from West Asia, gathered on the Belarusian side of the border with Poland in the hope of crossing into Western Europe.

The European Union has accused Belarus' authoritarian President Alexander Lukashenko of encouraging illegal border crossings as a "hybrid attack" to retaliate against EU sanctions on his government for its crackdown on internal dissent after Lukashenko's disputed 2020 reelection.

Belarus denies the allegations but has said it will no longer stop refugees and migrants from trying to enter the European Union.

The Belarusian Defence Ministry accused Poland on Thursday of an "unprecedented" military buildup on the border, saying that migration control did not warrant the concentration of 15,000 troops backed by tanks, air defence assets and other weapons.

> Let them scream and squeak. Yes, those are nuclear-capable bombers, but we have no other choice
>
> Alexander Lukashenko

"It looks more like forming a strike group of forces," the ministry said, adding that the Polish military buildup prompted Belarus to respond with actions "both independently and within the existing agreements with our strategic ally," a reference to Russia.

Russia and Belarus have a union agreement envisaging close political and military ties. Lukashenko on Thursday called the Russian bomber flights a necessary response. "Let them scream and squeak. Yes, those are nuclear-capable bombers, but we have no other choice," he said. AP

'Will cut off gas supply if EU imposes sanctions'

MINSK

BELARUS'S strongman leader Alexander Lukashenko vowed on Thursday to respond to any new sanctions imposed over the migrant crisis on the country's border with Poland, including by potentially cutting off the transit of natural gas to Europe.

"If they impose additional sanctions on us... we must respond," Lukashenko said in comments to officials released by the presidency.

"We are warming Europe, and they are threatening us," he said, pointing out that Russia's Yamal-Europe gas pipeline transits through Belarus to Poland. "And what if we halt natural gas supplies?"

EU officials say they expect to approve new sanctions over the migrant crisis next week.

"We are in a situation in which the proper consequences (for Minsk) are overdue. This is what we want, together with our European partners," German Foreign Minister Heiko Maas said Thursday. Belarusian Foreign Minister Vladimir Makei said Minsk wanted the crisis "resolved as quickly as possible" and was ready to talk to the EU, but the bloc was refusing dialogue.

In a statement released for Poland's Independence Day on Thursday, Prime Minister Mateusz Morawiecki said his country was facing a "new kind of war" whose "ammunition is civilians".

Poland accuses Belarus of using intimidation to force migrants to breach the frontier and refusing to allow them to leave border areas.

Belarus has in turn accused Poland of violating international norms by blocking the migrants and violently beating them back. Russian Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov on Wednesday accused the West of mounting an "anti-Belarusian campaign", and said Russia and Belarus had "closely coordinated our approaches" to countering it.

Punjab government removes TLP chief from terrorism list

Pakistan's Punjab province government on Thursday removed the name of Tehreek-i-Labbaik Pakistan (TLP) chief Saad Hussain Rizvi from the terrorism list, succumbing to pressure from the radical Islamist party which was involved in deadly clashes with the police. The government, however, didn't clarify whether it will pursue a number of cases registered against Rizvi in which he was booked for terrorism charges. According to a notification issued by the provincial government, Rizvi's name has been removed from the Fourth Schedule, a list of proscribed individuals who are suspected of terrorism or sectarianism under the Anti-Terrorism Act 1997.

Four killed in violence amid local body elections

At least four people were killed as Bangladesh held village council elections on Thursday that are certain to further consolidate the governing party's power but have raised concerns about the state of democracy in the South Asian nation. The largest opposition party is boycotting the vote, saying a skewed political atmosphere is preventing fair participation. Widespread allegations of misconduct were made during the last two national elections, and political violence has marred past votes in Bangladesh. Opposing groups used guns and spears to prevent supporters of rivals from reaching the polling booths in a village in Narsingdi district.

Meghan sorry for misleading court on biography

LONDON

MEGHAN Markle has apologised to a UK court after admitting being involved in a favourable biography of her short tenure as a frontline royal in Britain, despite having previously denied it.

The apology came as part of a British newspaper group's appeal against a High Court ruling that it breached the Duchess of Sussex's privacy, by publishing parts of a letter she wrote to her father.

Associated Newspapers, which publishes the Mail on Sunday, Daily Mail and MailOnline, has submitted that she wrote the letter, knowing it was likely to be leaked, despite claiming the opposite.

It is relying on testimony from her former communications adviser, Jason Knauf, to overturn the lower court's ruling that publication was "manifestly excessive and... unlawful".

As part of their case at the Court of Appeal in London, the publishers said Knauf provided information to the authors of a biography, Finding Freedom.

Both Meghan and Harry, who quit royal life last year citing media intrusion and moved to the United States, have previously said they had no direct involvement in the book.

But Knauf said in a witness statement that the best-selling book was "discussed on a routine basis" and "directly with the duchess multiple times in person and over email".

She also gave him briefing points about her life to share with the authors, Omid Scobie and Carolyn Durand. Meghan's husband, Prince Harry, was also emailed.

Knauf told the court in his statement that Harry had told him there should be plausible deniability and Knauf should provide "the right context and background". That would "help get some truths out there", he is said to have told the aide.

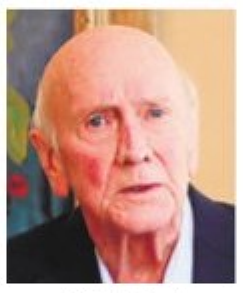
In a witness statement made public on Wednesday, Meghan apologised for misleading the court about whether she had provided details to Knauf to pass on to the authors.

"I accept that Mr Knauf did provide some information to the authors for the book and that he did so with my knowledge, for a meeting that he planned for with the authors in his capacity as communications secretary," she said.

S Africa's last apartheid president dies

JOHANNESBURG

F W de Klerk, who shared the Nobel Peace Prize with Nelson Mandela and as South Africa's last apartheid president oversaw the end of the country's white minority rule, has died aged 85.



F W de Klerk

Frederik Willem de Klerk died after a battle against cancer at his home in the Fresnaye area of Cape Town, a spokesman for his foundation confirmed on Thursday.

De Klerk was a controversial figure in South Africa where many blamed him for violence against Black South Africans and anti-apartheid activists during his time in power, while some white South Africans saw his efforts to end apartheid as a betrayal.

"De Klerk's legacy is a big one. It is also an uneven one, something South Africans are called to reckon with in this moment," the Mandela Foundation said of his death.

Retired Anglican Archbishop Desmond Tutu, another towering anti-apartheid activist, issued a similarly guarded statement about de Klerk's death.

De Klerk "played an important role in South Africa's history ... he recognised the moment for change and demonstrated the will to act on it," said Tutu's foundation.

However, de Klerk tried to avoid responsibility for the enormity of the abuses of apartheid, including in his testimony at the Truth and Reconciliation Commission, which was chaired by Tutu.

At that time, Tutu expressed disappointment that de Klerk did not fully apologize for the evils of apartheid, the statement noted.

It was de Klerk who in a speech to South Africa's parliament on February 2, 1990, announced that Mandela would be released from prison after 27 years.

The announcement electrified a country that for decades had been scorned and sanctioned by much of the world for its brutal system of racial discrimination known as apartheid. AFP

DEEPENING TIES

Israel, Arab allies conduct military drill

JERUSALEM

NAVAL forces from the United States, Israel and two Gulf Arab states are taking part in a joint security drill in the Red Sea, a vital shipping route that feeds into the Suez Canal.

The US 5th Fleet said Thursday that the five-day multilateral maritime exercise with Israel, the UAE and Bahrain began on Wednesday and includes at-sea training focused on search and seizure tactics aboard the USS Portland transport dock ship.

The drill appears to be the first time these nations acknowledge shared maritime training exercises. It comes a little more than a year after the UAE and subsequently Bahrain normalised ties with Israel.

The statement by the 5th Fleet did not specify where in the Red Sea the exercise was taking place. The sea, which connects the Mediterranean Sea by the Suez Canal with the Indian Ocean by the Gulf of Aden is one of the world's key oil shipping routes.

Over the past years, Yemen's Iran-backed Houthi rebels have targeted oil shipments in the south of the waterway. Saudi Arabia and the UAE have waged war against the Houthis since 2015. AP

Troika Plus calls on Taliban to snap ties with all terrorist groups

ISLAMABAD

OFFICIALS from the US, China, Russia and Pakistan on Thursday called on the Taliban to sever its ties with all international terrorist groups and to deny space to any militant organisations operating inside the country while taking steps to form an "inclusive and representative" government in Kabul. The extended Troika meeting of the special Afghan representatives of the four nations reviewed the latest situation in Afghanistan and said it expected that the Taliban will fulfill their commitment to prevent use of Afghan territory by terrorists. According to a statement issued at the conclusion of the day-long parleys, the four nations "expressed deep concern regarding the severe humanitarian and economic situation in Afghanistan and reiterated unwavering support for the people of Afghanistan." PTI

Duterte's daughter joins new party ahead of polls

Manila: Philippines "First Daughter" Sara Duterte joined a new political party on Thursday, fuelling speculation she will make a late entry into the presidential race. Supporters of the Davao city mayor have been clamouring for her to run for the country's highest office, but she has insisted that she was not interested. But her sudden withdrawal from the 2022 mayoral contest suggested she had changed her mind.

U.S. SEES BIGGEST INFLATION SURGE IN 30 YRS

The US government said on Wednesday, that its consumer price index soared 6.2% from a year ago — the biggest 12-month jump since 1990. A look at how bad the situation is

WHAT'S FUELLING THE SPIKE

Slammed by Covid-19, the US economy collapsed in the spring of 2020 as lockdowns took effect, businesses closed or cut hours and consumers stayed home as a health precaution.

But, instead of sinking into a prolonged downturn, the economy staged an unexpectedly rousing recovery, fueled by massive government spending

Suddenly, businesses had to scramble to meet demand. They couldn't hire fast enough to plug job openings — a near record 10.4 million in August — or buy enough supplies to fill customer orders

As business roared back, ports and freight yards couldn't handle the traffic. Global supply chains became snarled.

Costs rose. And companies found that they could pass along those higher costs in the form of higher prices to consumers

QUICK RELIEF UNLIKELY

Economists are now voicing a more discouraging message: Higher prices will likely last well into next year, if not beyond

"I think it it will be transitory," said Megan Greene, an economist. "But economists have to be very honest about defining transitory, and I think this could last another year easily"

Healthcare likely to be focus area of Budget 2022

The allocation to the sector may be higher than what it was last year

ANURADHA SHUKLA @ New Delhi

THE centre will continue spending on the healthcare sector in the upcoming budget, as India is yet to fully vaccinate its population and Covid-19 is far from over with new variants being reported across the world.

"The actual process of budget making has not yet started. Currently, the review of revised estimate is under the process. However, two sectors will continue to remain in focus -- healthcare and Infrastructure. The allocation on the sector will be higher than what it was last year," a senior official told TNIE.

This is in line with what Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman had hinted at in her recent media interviews.

Government had allocated more than ₹64,000 crore to the ministry of health and family welfare and ₹35,000 crore in the budget for vaccination and improving overall healthcare infrastructure.

However, this was not sufficient. In fact, health ministry's budget has increased only by ₹7000 crore from Budget Estimates of 2020-21 and declined by 9.8% from Revised Estimates of 2020-21. The allocation on healthcare research was also slashed by almost half, compared to the revised estimate. Allocation for Pradhan Mantri Swasthya Suraksha Yojana (PMSSY) has been decreased by 7% over the revised estimates of 2020-21 at ₹7,000 crore.

With the second wave, which badly hit the nation as people were struggling to get oxygen and hospital beds, the focus was shifted back to the healthcare infrastructure.

The official said that there is more pressure even from the states to increase allocation for the healthcare sector so that more beds can be added.

Also, as vaccination drive will continue in the next fiscal year, the centre will have to enhance its budget allocation for the Covid-19 vaccine.

The current spending of India remains 1.6% of GDP, which is much low compared to other major economies. The Economic Survey 2020-21 observes the overall out-of-pocket expenses in India on healthcare are 60% of the total expense on public health.

'5G spectrum auction likely in April-May 2022'

ECONOMIC NEWS BUREAU @ New Delhi

FACING one more delay, the 5G spectrum auction is now likely to take place around April-May 2022, according to communications minister Ashwini Vaishnaw.

"Today, our estimate is by April-May. I was earlier estimating March. But, I think it will take...because consultations are complex, diverse opinions are coming," he said on Thursday addressing a summit.

He added that the government will introduce more reforms in the debt-laden telecom sector.

Vaishnaw added that the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (Trai), which is tasked with recommending base price and other important formalities, is undergoing consultations on the matter and they are expected to submit a report by February-March 2022.

"I think they will submit their report by February-mid is what we are thinking, maybe February-end, maximum to maximum March. Immediately after that, we will have the auctions," the minister said.

According to telecom ministry officials, the department of telecommunications (DoT) is working with Trai to seek the base price recommendations. According to the current reserve price, telcos would need to pay ₹50,000 crore to acquire 100 MHz of 5G spectrum in the 3.3-3.6 GHz band, which is needed on average to deploy the 5G tech.

Telcos have maintained that the price is too high, especially at a time when the sector has huge AGR dues to pay.

Vaishnaw's statement also comes a day after it was reported that the DoT has decided to give a six-month extension to telecom service providers to conduct 5G trials till May, 2022

According to an analyst at a leading consultancy firm, the extension may push the auction to the second half of 2022, meaning a commercial roll out of 5G services may only take place in early 2023.

ON TAX CUTS

ICRA pegs revenue loss to states at ₹44,000 cr

ECONOMIC NEWS BUREAU @ New Delhi

STATE governments will lose ₹44,000 crore on revenue loss from tax cuts on petrol and diesel for the rest of the financial year, rating agency ICRA said.

"Since most states levy VAT on an ad valorem basis, the excise cut will lower their VAT inflows by ₹9,000 crore. Subsequently, varying VAT cuts on fuels have been announced so far by 25 states and Union Territories, and others may well follow,"Aditi Nayar, Chief Economist, ICRA Ltd said.

"We tentatively estimate the revenue loss to all states and UTs from the VAT cuts on these fuels at ₹35,000 crore. Accordingly, their total revenue foregone is assessed at ₹44,000 crore for FY2022, in line with the expected revenue loss of the GoI," Nayar added.

The Centre on November 4 cut excise duty on diesel by ₹10 a litre and by ₹5 on petrol. Following this, as many as 25 states and Union territories have lowered value-added tax (VAT) on these fuels.

Factoring in the impact of the excise duty cut and expectations for mobility and the economic recovery with the rising Covid-19 vaccine coverage, ICRA forecasts the consumption of petrol and diesel to rise 14% and 8%, respectively, in FY22.

However, it added that the loss is smaller than their likely gains from the higher-than-budgeted tax devolution, as ICRA pegs that the Central tax devolution is likely to exceed the FY22 budget estimates by a substantial ₹60,000 crore, and the FY21 provisional actuals by a healthy ₹1.3 lakh crore.

Despite this, it added that the tax devolution to the states was unchanged at ₹2.6 lakh crore in H1FY21 and H1FY22. In monthly terms, the devolution amount rose to ₹47,500 crore each in July-September 2021, from ₹39,200 crore each in the previous three months.

Food delivery company Zomato to 'divest or shutdown' non-core business

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

Keeping in mind its long-term growth strategy, food delivery company Zomato is 'shutting down or divesting' it's non-core businesses to focus on hyperlocal ecommerce system.

It sees an opportunity to grow the food delivery market at least 10x over the next few years, and is planning to invest over $50 million in Hyperpure (B2B supplies for restaurants) in the next 18-24 months, the company said a a blog post. This is evident as revenue from Hyperpure grew by 49% QoQ to ₹1.1 billion in Q2 FY22. Hyperpure is now present in 8 cities and it supplied to over 12,000 restaurants every month on an average in Q2 FY22.

The company, whose losses widened to ₹435 crore in the second quarter, said it is divesting or shutting down non-core businesses that contributed less than 1% to its Adjusted Revenue and 13% to its Adjusted EBITDA loss in Q2 FY22. As part of its strategy, Zomato will sell Fitso to Curefit for $50 million and the company will get a cumulative shareholding worth $100 million in Curefit. This will help the company explore cross-selling benefits.

After shutting its direct-to-consumer experiment in Nutraceuticals, it is now backing B2B logistics-tech company Shiprocket by investing over $75 million. It will also invest $50 million in magicpin, which drives omni-channel growth for local retailers. Earlier in September, it closed overseas subsidiaries- Zomato UK and Zomato Media in Singapore. The company had shut its US subsidiary and sold its stake in NexTable in August this year.

Zomato's business is at the confluence of food and hyperlocal e-commerce. Zomato Founder and CEO Deepinder Goyal (In picture) said in the company's blog post, "Our hyperlocal delivery feet is now over 3 lakh delivery partners strong on a monthly active basis. We believe that our last mile feet is a strong moat."

Skit to tap global voice customer service mkt

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

VOICE Artificial Intelligence (AI) company Skit has plans to tap the global $300-billion voice customer service market with its AI-based tech-Vernacular Intelligent Voice Assistant (VIVA). VIVA replicates human-like conversation and also translates speech characteristics and offers query solutions.

Bengaluru-headquartered Skit Co-founder and CEO Sourabh Gupta told TNIE that the company has now opened its US headquarters in New York.

"We have observed that there is a huge demand for voice interfaces across contact support and the global market size will reach $496 billion by 2027," he said. Skit is going global with recent expansion into the South-East Asian market. "We have noticed that there is a high potential in this market for the adoption of conversational AI, especially for voice," Gupta said.

In the last one year, the company has acquired over 25 large enterprises and has grown 4X in terms of revenue. It plans to scale it to 10X to cater to the rising demand for voice AI in India.

There was an unprecedented increase in call volumes at bank call centres during the pandemic time, as customers tried to manage their portfolios amidst the chaos of hastily implemented work-from-home policy, financial instability and overnight change in consumers behaviour.

Gupta said for the end-users, the traditional IVRs (Interactive Voice Response) and wait time are frustrating. According to Adroit Market Research, the India call centre market was valued at $28.19 billion in 2017.

DILIP & PARAS ALL SET TO BE PART OF DRAVID'S SUPPORT STAFF

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

AS expected Paras Mhambrey is all set to take over as the bowling coach of the Indian team as the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) finalised the support staff. Although it is not clear how many candidates applied for the job, it is understood that the selectors — in charge of interviewing and picking the support staff — interviewed few candidates over the past week and have finalised a list with a formal approval expected any time soon.

Vikram Rathour, who took over as batting coach from Sanjay Bangar after the 2019 World Cup, will continue to be part of the Indian team. With regards to the fielding coach, the selectors have opted for T Dilip over Abhay Sharma, who was touted to replace R Sridhar. Sharma, who has been part of the India A and India Under-19 set-ups and has worked alongside new head coach Rahul Dravid and Mhambrey, was expected to join the duo. However, the former Railways and Delhi player has been overlooked for the job and he is likely to remain at the National Cricket Academy. It is important to note that in 2016, he had a brief stint with the Indian team, however, following reservations from the senior players, the BCCI brought back Sridhar when Anil Kumble was the head coach.

Dilip, who hails from Hyderabad, has also been part of the NCA setup and accompanied the Indian team for the limited-overs tour of Sri Lanka last July. Although he didn't play first-class cricket, the 39-year-old is a BCCI certified Level III coach who has worked with Hyderabad Ranji team, India A and junior teams for over 14 years and is held in high regard in board and NCA circles.

T Dilip will join as fielding coach

As far as Mhambrey goes, his credentials are second to none, and has worked closely alongside all the young bowlers during his time with India A and Under-19. Like Bharat Arun before him, Mhambrey too has a good understanding of India's fast bowling pool and has even worked with the current lot at various times at the NCA. Before joining the NCA, the Mumbaikar coached Bengal and Vidarbha in Ranji Trophy.

Rohit to be rested too

The national selectors have more or less formalised the team for the two Tests against New Zealand. Rohit Sharma, Mohammed Shami and Jasprit Bumrah are unlikely to be part of both as selectors are also mulling over whether to rest Ravindra Jadeja as there is Axar Patel around. Ajinkya Rahane will lead in the first Test as Virat Kohli, too, will not be available and will join the team for the second Test in Mumbai.

With Rishabh Pant also expected to get a break, the selectors are set to include KS Bharat and Wriddhiman Saha.

Australia get Wade-lifting

Wicketkeeper's 17-ball 41* and Stoinis' 40* help team overcome Pakistan, face NZ in final

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

Australia's Matthew Wade and Marcus Stoinis shared a 81-run partnership for sixth wicket to guide Australia home | AP

SHAHEEN Shah Afridi has the ball. It's the 19th over of the Australia innings. Matthew Wade is the man tasked with taking his team to the final, their first T20 World Cup final since 2010. The wicket-keeper, who is largely in the team because he is seen 'as a hard man', has had a life. Hasan Ali failed to collect an offering at mid-wicket off the third ball of the 19th over. The equation is 18 from 9 balls. Afridi's next ball is zooming into Wade's stumps. It clocks 148kmph. Wade moves outside the off-stump before bringing his bat down. It has to be done at the precise moment otherwise he will lose his stumps or worse, endanger his physical health. It's a perfect connection and the ball sails over short fine leg for a six.

Twelve from eight. Shaheen's calm 'I got this' act is slightly unravelling. For the first time in the tournament, Pakistan's veneer of invincibility is on the edge. It's a full cutter but it's in Wade's wheel house and he swings for the hills. It's another perfect connection and the ball sails over long leg. Six from seven. Wade and Marcus Stoinis share a laugh. They know this is done. Pakistan know this is done. Shaheen knows this is done. The sixth ball over is a carbon copy of the fourth and Wade repeats the act: another scoop over the keeper's head. Australia are in the World Cup final and will face New Zealand on Sunday.

There wouldn't have been many takers for this particular result when Wade and Stoinis, two sort of forgotten men, got together. Chasing a big 177, all the big boys were back. David Warner entertained but walked back thinking he had edged. Aaron Finch had gone back in the first over. Glenn Maxwell didn't hang around for long. Steven Smith played a very un-Smith innings.

They were 96/5 after 12.2 overs. Wade and Stoinis, at that point in time, felt like lambs being led to the slaughter house. They had of course done this before at this World Cup when they got over the line in unconvincing fashion against South Africa but this was something different. Bigger.

Under the Dubai lights, they had one thing going for them, though. Both of them like the ball coming onto the bat. Considering they open for their respective franchises at the Big Bash, both of them are positive match-ups against pace. With Shadab Khan having bowled out and Imad Wasim not trusted to bowl out his quota, Babar Azam turned to his three big guns to bring home the contest. Stoinis and Wade, though, helped them to a big feast. They were able to free their hands and play through the line as the dew took effect. Attempted yorkers became length 'hit-me balls' and they disappeared. The quicker Haris Rauf, Hasan Ali and Afridi bowled, the faster it went to the boundary.

Pakistan, in time, may also rue the fact that they left a few runs when they were asked to bat first. Babar and Mohammed Rizwan, who had a lung condition a day before the semifinal, had a relatively good powerplay but they failed to capitalise on some generous bowling. In fact, if it weren't for Fakhar Zaman's death overs blast, they wouldn't even have reached 176.

In the end, thay may have proved to be the difference apart from that dropped catch at the end. Finch & Co, though, won't wonder. Their next target is New Zealand. Their neighbours stand between them and a first ever T20 triumph.

Brief scores: Pakistan 176/4 in 20 ovs (Rizwan 67, Fakhar 55; Starc 2/38) lost to Australia 177/5 in 19 ovs (Warner 49, Wade 41 n.o, Stoinis 40 n.o).

After death rumour, Nisha clinches gold

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

Nisha Dahiya | PTI

IT seems destiny loves to play roulette with wrestler Nisha Dahiya. A confusion due to her name, led to fake news of her death trending in the social media on Wednesday a day ahead of her bout in the senior national championships in Gonda (UP). Not an ideal start. Yet she managed to exorcise that ghost of rumour and win the gold in the nationals on Thursday.

Nisha is not an alien to controversies. Despite pushed to the wall, she knows how to bounce back. Six years ago when she started making a mark with a senior bronze medal at the national level, the wrestler was banned for testing positive for performance-enhancing substance. She made a strong comeback four years later by winning 65kg gold in the 2019 senior nationals in Jalandhar.

The confusion started on Wednesday when Nisha's namesake, also a wrestler, was shot dead along with her brother in Sonepat's Halalpur village. Nisha, who earlier this month had won 65kg bronze in the U-23 World Championships, and her acquaintances were flooded with calls enquiring about her wellbeing. The 23-year-old Haryana girl, however, didn't let the unwarranted attention come in her way and finished on the top of the podium pinning Jaspreet Kaur from Punjab in just 30 seconds in the 65kg final.

After winning the gold, Nisha admitted that the incident distracted her and she couldn't sleep properly. "It indeed is a happy and perfect end to my campaign. I was so stressed yesterday. I could not even sleep. I was already low on energy due to weight cut and this incident just proved too much to handle," Nisha was quoted as saying.

She has been training alongside the 2016 Rio Olympic bronze medallist Sakshi Malik for the past few years at Satyawan Akhada in Rohtak under the latter's father-in-law Satyawan Kadian. The coach though couldn't watch her winning the medal as he was scheduled to reach the venue, Nandini Nagar, Gonda (Uttar Pradesh), only on Friday, he was quite sure of his ward winning a medal despite the distraction. "She is mentally tough. The confusion might have made her restless for some time but she has seen enough to overcome such obstacles and focus on her immediate assignment," Satyawan told this daily.

SAI coach Ram Budaki, who has been assisting Indian junior wrestlers since 2017 and accompanied the team for the U-23 Worlds in Serbia, also echoed Satyawan's sentiments. "Her attack is her strength, especially the double leg attack. The speed with which she attacks makes her a formidable wrestler. We were expecting her to qualify for the Tokyo Games but that didn't happen. She will definitely make 2024 Games cut. She told me that she will gradually switch to the Olympic weight category of 62kg," said Budaki.

WTA Finals: Pliskova starts with win

AFP @Guadalaraja

Karolina Pliskova | AFP

KAROLINA PLISKOVA continued her dominance of Garbine Muguruza Wednesday, opening her WTA Finals campaign with a battling 4-6, 6-2, 7-6 (6) victory over the Spaniard.

Czech third seed Pliskova, at 29 the oldest player in this year's edition of the elite season-ending event, has now won nine of 11 career meetings with Muguruza, the latest putting her atop her round-robin's group standings alongside Estonian Anett Kontaveit, who beat second-seeded Czech Barbora Krejcikova 6-3, 6-4.

After dropping the first set, Pliskova produced a superb serving effort to take the second, putting 16 of 18 first serves in play and dropping just two points on serve.

In a tense third set, Muguruza saved two match points while serving at 4-5 — the first with a service winner.

But she was unable to capitalize on two break points that followed as they went to the tie-breaker. Muguruza saved another match point to knot the decider at 6-6, but Pliskova won the next two to polish it off after two hours and 26 minutes when Muguruza belted a forehand wide. The tournament was moved to Mexico from its usual home in Shenzhen, China, due to the coronavirus pandemic.

The switch in venue means the tournament's eight-strong singles field must adjust to the thin air of Guadalajara, which is around 5,100 feet (1,550 meters) above sea level.

Red-hot Kontaveit kicked off group stage action with her straight-sets win over French Open champion Krejcikova.

Estonia's Kontaveit, the last player to secure her spot in the event, notched her 11th straight match victory, continuing a superb season that has seen her capture four WTA titles and rise to eighth in the world.

She needed just half an hour to pocket the first set — sealing it with an ace.

Gerrard takes over as Villa boss

AFP @Liverpool

STEVEN GERRARD is back in the Premier League as Aston Villa boss, having proved his managerial credentials by leading Rangers to the domestic title he was unable to land in his glittering playing career with Liverpool.

Gerrard ended Rangers' decade of pain last season as the Glasgow club — liquidated in 2012 and forced to restart at the bottom of the Scottish league pyramid — finally shattered Celtic's run of nine consecutive titles.

Former Liverpool captain Gerrard is considered one of the best players to ever play in the Premier League.

He scored 186 goals in 710 appearances for Liverpool, winning the Champions League, UEFA Cup, two FA Cups and three League Cups along the way. However, a Premier League title eluded the midfielder, with rival fans goading him in his final years at Anfield about his slip against Chelsea in 2014 that cost Liverpool a great chance at ending their long wait to win the league.

Gerrard left his boyhood club in 2015 for a brief spell to end his playing career with the LA Galaxy. He quickly returned to Anfield to begin his coaching career in Liverpool's youth academy in 2017.

A year later the call came from Rangers to revive a club still in the doldrums of financial turmoil.

FRESH START

Back in camp after surgery and marriage, Toor targets rich 2022

INDRANEEL DAS @ Chennai

FINALLY, after a surgery and wedding Tajinder Pal Singh Toor is back in the national camp at the National Centre of Excellence, Patiala. His coach, Mohinder Singh Dhillon, too went under the knife. The much-needed break offered the Tokyo 2020 Olympic shot-putter and coach some respite. That window also gave them an opportunity to sort things out in their mind and body and get ready for the next year. Tajinder had time for his marriage too, in October.

With the Commonwealth and Asian Games slated next year, they can ill afford to lose time through niggles and injuries. "It's training time and I am back," was Tajinder's reaction on joining the camp on Thursday. He is the defending Asian Games champion.

His throwing wrist is fine after surgery in September and rehabilitation process is almost over. Yet, coach Dhillon would prefer to concentrate on strengthening his lower body before moving to the upper. And, yes, more than a two-month break brings with it a few extra kilos. "I will get back in shape soon," says Toor with a tinge of humour in his voice.

His coach, however, is plotting a healthy comeback. "The next year is quite busy and our focus would be the Asian and the Commonwealth Games," says Dhillon. "So we will work out a schedule through which we hope to see him back into competition by March."

The early part of the calendar would be ideal for him to make a comeback into competition but the coach says only in the second half of the calendar he should be throwing his best.

Tajinder Pal Singh Toor

The Asian Games is scheduled to be held in September while the tougher Commonwealth Games is in July-August. "Medal is our target in both the competitions," says Dhillon.

As for his training, Toor and Dhillon would work on the fitness and then gradually increase the load. They are looking at a three-month cycle in which the shot-putter is expected to gain full fitness. "We will work in his lower body — build strength and then move to the upper body after assessing his wrist," said Dhillon.

As for Toor, it's time to make up for the time he lost due to surgery and rehabilitation. The wrist doesn't hurt now but it will be evaluated after they start lifting weights – dead and bench press — and while throwing. "We have to see how much he can lift without exerting pressure on his wrist," says Dhillon. "As and when he starts gaining strength, we will increase the load in his upper body. We will move slowly."

Dhillon believes Toor, who set national record just before the Olympics with a throw of 21.49m, has a chance at the Commonwealth Games as well because he feels apart from Tomas Walsh, other throwers can be challenged. All that is next year. The immediate plan is to get back in shape and start training earnestly.

ICE CREAM TO THE RESCUE

Did you know ice cream has been a morale booster since World War I? This comfort food produces a physiological response that makes those eating it subconsciously think about calming memories, such as eating the dessert as a child. Here's how the frozen treat has been breaking ice since 3,000 years

1904
First ice cream cone was created during 1904 World's Fair in St. Louis

A BRIEF TIMELINE

200 BCE
A kind of ice-cream invented in China when a milk and rice mixture was frozen by packing it into snow

100 BCE-100 CE
Roman emperors sent slaves to mountain tops to bring back fresh snow, which was then flavoured and served as ice-cream

618-97
King Tang of Shang (China) orders 94 ice men to make a frozen dish of buffalo milk, flour and camphor. This process is similar to the way Indians made kulfi

1254-1324
Marco Polo introduces ice cream to Italy

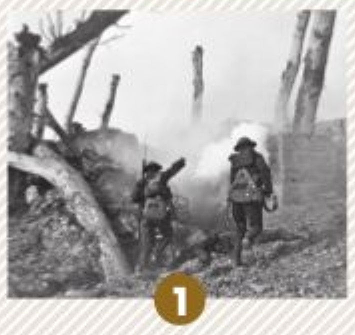
1600-49
The King of England, Charles I, offered his chef £500 a year to keep his ice-cream recipe a secret; ordered his beheading when he failed

The US is the largest producer and consumer of ice creams globally

WORLD WAR AND FROZEN TREAT

SUNDAE

Was invented when selling ice-cream sodas on a Sunday was banned in the US town of Evanston during the late 19th century. As a workaround, some traders replaced the soda with syrup and called the dessert Ice Cream Sunday. They replaced the final 'y' with an 'e' to avoid upsetting religious leaders. Hence, Sundae with an 'e'



1

During WWI, alcohol was banned on Navy ships, forcing officers to come up with a way to keep their men happy. The solution: ice cream. Holding ice cream onboard a ship was difficult, but the soldiers found a way. They transformed a refrigerated barge into an ice cream factory, producing 38 kg ice cream every seven minutes and could store up to 8,000 kg

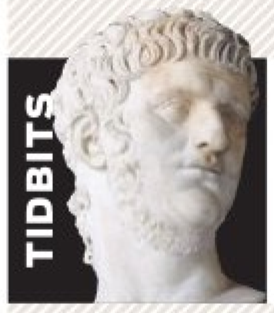
2

During Second World War, rescue helicopters weren't stationed on carriers. It proved difficult to reroute, turn, or slow the massive carrier vessels when pilots fell overboard. As a result, the Navy began offering smaller boat crews and ship owners ice cream in return for overboard crew rescue

3

Ice cream became so important that in at least one incident sailors took what they could as their ship was sinking. In May 1942, the USS Lexington was attacked during the Battle of the Coral Sea and more than 200 crewmen died. Following the order to abandon ship, sailors broke into the freezer and gorged themselves on ice cream before jumping overboard

TIDBITS



Roman Emperor Nero was not only known for fiddling but also for his fondness for ice cream. He established large chain of runners who brought fresh ice from the mountain to Rome

Famous types

The most famous types of ice cream in the world are Gelato, Neapolitan, Sorbet, stick and cone

CHINA, U.S. UNVEIL SURPRISE CLIMATE PACT

Beijing and Washington, two of the biggest polluters, have agreed to share technologies to limit emissions in push for Paris accord goals

CLIMATE

GLASGOW: The world's top carbon polluters — China and the US — agreed on Wednesday to increase their cooperation and speed up action to rein in climate-damaging emissions, signalling a mutual effort on global warming at a time of tension over their other disputes.

In back-to-back news conferences at UN climate talks in Glasgow, Chinese climate envoy Xie Zhenhua and U.S. counterpart John Kerry said the two countries would work together to accelerate the emissions reductions required to meet the goals of the 2015 Paris Agreement on climate change.

"It's beneficial not only to our two countries but the world as a whole that two major powers in the world, China and the U.S., shoulder special international responsibilities and obligations," Xie told reporters. "We need to think big and be responsible. The steps we're taking ... can answer questions people have about the pace at which China is going, and help China and us to be able to accelerate our efforts," Kerry said. China also agreed for the first time to crack down on methane leaks, following the lead of the Biden administration's efforts to curb the potent greenhouse gas. Beijing and Washington agreed to share technology to reduce emissions. Governments agreed in Paris to jointly cut greenhouse gas emissions enough to keep the global temperature rise 'well below' 2 degrees Celsius (3.6 degrees Fahrenheit) since pre-industrial times, with a more stringent target of trying to keep warming to 1.5 degrees Celsius (2.7 degrees Fahrenheit) preferred. Both sides recognise that there is a gap between efforts taken globally to reduce climate pollution and the goals of the Paris deal, Xie said. "So we will jointly strengthen climate action and cooperation with respect to our respective national situations," he said. A U.S.-China bilateral agreement in 2014 gave a huge push to the creation of the historic Paris accord the following year, but that cooperation stopped with the Trump administration, which pulled the U.S. out of the pact.

The Biden administration brought the U.S. back in to that deal, but has clashed with China on other issues such as cybersecurity, human rights and Chinese territorial claims.

"While this is not a gamechanger in the way the 2014 US-China climate deal was, in many ways it's just as much of a step forward given the geopolitical state of the relationship," said Thom Woodroofe, an expert in U.S.-China climate talks.

"It means the intense level of US-China dialogue on climate can now begin to translate into cooperation." The gesture of goodwill comes just days after President Joe Biden blamed Chinese President Xi Jinping's and Russian President Vladimir Putin's failure to attend talks in person for the lack of more progress in the climate negotiations.

The U.S. and China will also revive a working group that will 'meet regularly to address the climate crisis and advance the multilateral process, focusing on enhancing concrete actions in this decade,' the declaration said.

Both Washington and Beijing intend to update the world on their new national targets for 2035 in 2025 ' a move that is particularly significant for China. The declaration also said China will 'make best efforts to accelerate' its plans to reduce coal consumption in the second half of this decade.

Paralympian to swim 122 km

ENVIRONMENT

Paralympian quadruple amputee Theo Curin on Wednesday began his challenge to swim 122 kilometers across the world's highest navigable lake to raise awareness of environmental pollution. Alongside his two companions, Olympic medalist Malia Metella, 39, and Matthieu Witvoet, 27, Curin set off at 8:15 am from Copacabana on the Bolivian side of Lake Titicaca, some 3,800 meters above sea level. "It's very emotional," said the 21-year-old, who had part of both arms and both legs amputated when he was six after contracting meningitis. The French trio, who will take turns to swim while the other two rest and keep warm in a boat made from recycled materials, hope to finish the challenge in 10 days, when they arrive in Puno, Peru.

Scientists for urgent action

CLIMATE

More than 200 scientists told the COP26 summit on Thursday to take immediate action to halt global warming, warning in an open letter that some climate change impacts were "irreversible" for generations. The central task of the Glasgow meeting is to implement the Paris Agreement, with its goal of limiting temperature rise to between 1.5 and 2 degrees Celsius above pre-industrial levels. But as negotiations enter their final days, commitments made so far could still lead to "catastrophic" warming of as much as 2.7C by 2100, according to the UN. "We, climate scientists, stress that immediate, strong, rapid, sustained and large-scale actions are necessary," to keep warming within the Paris target, said the letter.

Simultaneous access for rich, poor

COVID

US pharmaceutical giant Merck has vowed to avoid the pitfalls of the global Covid vaccine rollout by ensuring its new anti-coronavirus pill is made available in wealthy and poor countries at almost the same time. Paul Schaper, the company's executive director of global public policy, told AFP that Merck began working on its access strategy from July 2020, long before the efficacy results of the drug it developed with Ridgeback Biotherapeutics were announced in October 2021. The UK last week became the first country to authorise molnupiravir. In a clinical trial, the antiviral was shown to cut Covid hospitalisations by 50% among newly infected people, and also prevented 100% of deaths.

RARE INSIGHTS INTO WARMING IMPACTS

STUDY

PARIS: Deforestation and global warming in one Indonesian province caused temperatures to rise nearly a whole degree Celsius in 16 years leading to an eight per cent increase in deaths, a study found on Wednesday.

The report published in The Lancet Planetary Health gives a rare insight into how global warming and deforestation can affect people living in one of the world's most vulnerable regions. "Heat from deforestation and climate change is killing workers in tropical forest countries and decreasing the ability to work safely," lead author Nicholas Wolff of the Nature Conservancy told AFP.

With resources concentrated in developed countries, studies on the affects of global warming on health and mortality have largely focused on the so called global north.

"There's a real dearth of studies looking at the impacts on those who are most vulnerable to climate change and who are least responsible," Wolff said.

His team used publicly available data to reveal how the clearing of 4,375 square kilometres of forest in the Berau Regency increased daily maximum temperatures by 0.95°C —on top of already warmer global temperatures—between 2002 and 2018.

US DEAL TO BRING VACCINES TO CONFLICT ZONES

WASHINGTON: US Secretary of State Antony Blinken on Wednesday announced a deal to bring Covid-19 vaccines into conflict zones, where paltry numbers of people have been inoculated. In a virtual ministerial meeting on the pandemic, Blinken said the United States had worked with Covax, the international vaccine alliance to support developing nations, on providing the single-dose Johnson & Johnson shots to areas of conflict and other humanitarian distress. Gavi, the public-private partnership that co-leads Covax, said that the United States brokered an agreement to waive indemnification requirements on the Johnson & Johnson vaccines. Manufacturers have required governments to pay any legal penalties for incidents from vaccination, creating hurdles for poor nations and especially for aid groups.
